War with Mexico Impending—Troops ordered to the Rio Grande—The Action of Commodore Tatnall and Mr. Ward in China Approved by the Cabinet—The Latest Official News from the Pei-ho—T. F. Meagher gone to Revolutionize Costa Rica—The Court of Claims—The Boston Post-Office Once More—The Slave-trade, &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Oct 11.

The dispatch from New-Orleans, announcing that a body of Mexican guerrillas had taken Brownsville, has created profound excitement in official quarters; and to-morrow the Cabinet will consider the propriety of sending a sufficient force to the Rio Grande, not only to protect the captured town hereafter, but to carry the war into Mexico, and there to punish the marauders. Some members of the Cabinet think it humiliating that Fort Brown had to be garrisoned by Mexican soldiers to protect American citizens. Others say war actually exists, as American blood has again been spilled upon American soil.

I have good authority for saying the State Department is much annoyed at the fabricated statement of the New-York Herald, to the effect that instructions are in course of preparation for the Minister to China, lecturing him upon the subject of neutrality. Mr. WARD's conduct, on the contrary, meets with the entire approval of the Administration. Com. TATNALL's conduct has also been approved, in view of the circumstances, through his interference, had it occurred between civilized nations in a state of war, would have been improper. Such is the view of Government.

Official advices from Mr. WARD, under date of July 4, state that he had sent a steamer with a written communication to the point named by the Chinese, but no one was there to receive it. Several men went ashore, and, having penetrated into the country, barely escaped with their lives. They were chased even into the water. The communication was, however, left for the Chinese officials, but, doubtless, was never delivered. Mr. WARD had no hope whatever o the ratification of the American Treaty, and placed no confidence in the promises of the Mandarins.

There is a well-authenticated rumor that THOMAS FRANCIS MEAGHER has gone to Costa Rica as an agent of President MORA, and will make an effort to assist him with his Irish countrymen in regaining supreme power. His scheme may not be utterly abortive, as Government availed itself of his offer to take dispatches to Mr. DIMITRY, which will afford him the protection of a diplomatic character.

Secretary FLOYD arrived at Washington this morning, but did not visit the Department. Q.

[FROM THE REPORTER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Oct. 11.

The business of the United States Court of Claims is suspended, owing to the absence of Judge LORING, who is detained at home by sickness. Opinions are ready to be delivered in all unfinished cases heretofore argued. There are perhaps fifty of them.

Considerable interest is manifested in certain influential quarters concerning the law of the last session of Congress, fixing the Boston Post-office in State-street. An impression prevails that it will be repealed when Congress meets, and the State-street party will require all their strength to sustain the present location.

The Government is satisfied that the yacht Wanderer is the only vessel which has landed Africans on our coast, but with a view to prevent any further violation of the law, the most stringent efforts have been and will continue to be made to intercept any such cargoes destined for the United States.

All the members of the Cabinet are now here.

The Commissioner of the Land Office, Mr. SMITH, entered upon the duties of his office to-day.

The President will return to the city to-morrow.

The Governor-elect of Virginia, Mr. LETCHER, is recovering from his protracted illness.

A NEW-YORKER SEIZES AND ABDUCTS HIS CHILD.

BOSTON, Tuesday, Oct. 11.

In Dover, N. H., on Saturday night, Dr. J. FARRAR forcibly abducted his daughter, about 6 years of age, from her mother, with whom the child was living by order of the Court, the parties having been divorced. Mr. FARRAR was armed with a pistol and escaped in a carriage. Since the divorce he has resided in New-York. A reward of $400 is offered for his arrest.

[The following particulars of this affair are given by a Newburyport paper: Last June Dr. FARRAR's wife obtained a divorce from him on the ground of ill-treatment. Mrs. F. retained the custody of the child, and went to live with her mother. Ever since she has been subjected to continual annoyance by Dr. F.'s threats of violence. Saturday night he rushed into her room, and firing a revolver at her, caught the child from its mother's arms, and left the house. On the sidewalk he fired at a passer by, and again at the women who were following. Then jumping into a carriage which was in waiting, he made good his escape. On Sunday Mrs. FARRAR's friends offered a reward of one hundred dollars for his arrest. The Mayor of Dover also offered a reward. He is described as about six feet high and slim, has long light curly hair, blue and deep sunk eyes and florid complexion.—ED. TIMES.]

ELECTION NEWS.

Pennsylvania—Election of State Officers.

PHILADELPHIA, Tuesday, Oct. 11.

The election in this city passed off quietly to-day. The Assembly tickets thus polled out of the proper districts will be lost.

The scattering returns received, render it evident that Mr. MANN, the Opposition candidate for District Attorney, is elected by over 2,000 majority. CHARTER ELECTION AT NEWARK—PROBABLE ELECTION OF A DEMOCRATIC MAYORFIGHTING, ETC.

NEWARK, Tuesday, Oct. 11.

The charter election to-day in the main passed off quietly, with a little fighting at the polls in the outer wards. In the Sixth Ward a fight ensued about dark, and the lights were put out, during which the polls were closed for half an hour. It is the largest vote ever polled at a charter election.

The returns come in slowly, but the probability is that MOSES BIGELOW, Democrat, is elected Mayor by a small majority. The Opposition carry the remainder of the city ticket, and will have a majority in the Board of Aldermen.

In the Eleventh Ward DANIEL DODD, Opposition for Mayor, has 31 majority, and JAMES E. BATHGATE, Opposition for Alderman, has 33 majority—an Opposition gain of 20 over last year.

THE CASE OF BISHOP ONDERDONK.

Report of the Flushing Delegates—Remonstrance against Restoration.

Messrs. ISAAC PECK, WILLIAM ROE, and ALLEN MACDONALD, Delegates from St. George's Church, Flushing, to the late Diocesan Convention, have published a vigorous remonstrance against the restoration of Bishop ONDERDONK. It is understood that the lady, to whom reference is made in this document, is Mrs. BEARE, the deceased wife of an Episcopal clergyman at Flushing, who was one of the witnesses against Bishop ONDERDONK at his trial. The Delegates say:

Bishop ONDERDONK had been convicted of conduct deemed inconsistent with his office, and had in consequence been suspended from performing any of its duties. He had been defended by the best legal counsel and ability New-York afforded. Among his supporters were persons not unaware of his weakness, and some of his witnesses, occupying high stations and able in many respects, appeared to be of uncertain and infirm memory.

On the other hand, the evidence supporting the charges was remarkably clear and certain; the witnesses testifying to circumstances of the most painful character to themselves, and thus leaving no possible doubt of the truth of their statements. Four witnesses proved as many instances of misconduct—and it was known that other witnesses who would have proved instances of the same character, were restrained from appearing on the trial—and yet in all our experience and observation in courts of justice, rarely have we known a case so fully sustained before a judge and jury.

It is now urged that Bishop ONDERDONK has repented of these acts of which he was found guilty, and ought, as a penitent, to be forgiven. He has not said so. He cannot say so, without acknowledging a course of wickedness towards the witnesses, with which the charges made against him on the trial are but as dust in the balance. He denied the truth of the witnesses. He suffered his friends to charge them with falsehood, and by the cruel and malicious treatment they received, two of them have been totally crushed—one to an untimely grave and one to a mad-house. Can he call them back to their wonted health? Can the House of Bishops restore them? They were left by their ungenerous sisters in the hour of trial, and many an ungenerous sister since has failed to do them justice. We all know the husband of one of these ladies, a most pure and upright man, who has suffered pain and mortification of a different kind, to be sure, but perhaps not less in degree than has fallen upon the suspended Bishop. But he has bowed himself to the agony as an innocent man; and he knows the innocency and truthfulness of her he has laid in the grave. We are speaking nothing but plain facts. This reverend gentleman is to be left to suffer and to be taunted with the crimes of another, while the suspended Bishop's pride is to be gratified (for that is all he asks) at the expense of sacred feeling and just right.

If this statement revive painful memories, the fault is not ours. Our two Provisional Bishops had devoted themselves and done much for the peace and comfort of our people; we had had the Christian sympathy of all neighboring churches; and our clergy, who had felt themselves humbled almost to the dust, were beginning to forget their own and our Church's abasement, when this question is so childishly, so recklessly, thrust upon us. Many seem to have faltered before the pressure of other minds, or to have been "frightened from their propriety." We could not so satisfy ourselves. We have only to add, that if in these brief remarks anything shall appear harsh or severe, we have tried to use as gentle language as seemed consistent with our ideas of truth and fairness.

WILLIAM ROE,
ALLAN MACDONALD.

Exhibition of Fawkes' Steam Plow at Hamilton Park.

Whoever attends an exhibition of steam-plowing within the limits of Manhattan Island, where land is scarce, must divest himself of all old-fashioned ideas of the way in which such things are done with oxen and horses, and be punctual to the hour—say to the minute—or he will find the allotted ground all plowed over before he arrives. At least such will be the case unless the area of turf is larger than that provided by the American Institute for the trial of Fawkes' Steam-plow at Hamilton Park. This plow claims to be able to perform, and has actually accomplished, the feat of turning over an acre of turf in twelve minutes. Now, the quantity of ground furnished for this trial, or rather these fifteen trials—for the plow is to be set in motion five times a day for three days—is about half an acre. This would give a little more than a third of a minute for each trial; and in point of fact this is about the extent to which the plow can be seen in motion at any one time. Unsatisfactory as this would appear to be, it nevertheless proved on yesterday's trial to be quite sufficient to call for the most enthusiastic expressions of delight, not unmixed with surprise, from the spectators. The exhibition, so far as it went, was a complete success, and convinced every one that the praises bestowed upon this invention had not been exaggerated. The exhibition was under the direction of the inventor, Mr. J. W. FAWKES, who worked the plow himself, and astonished everybody by the ease, facility and quickness with which he handled the ponderous machine. The engine and car, with the plows attached, of which there are eight in number, constructed like ordinary plows, weigh together 12 tons. The length of the whole is 30 feet—its width about 10 feet. Standing upon this car, with his hand to a wheel, at the signal of two whistles from the steam-pipe, Mr. FAWKES would set the plow in motion at a speed of four miles an hour, leaving eight straight and handsome furrows behind him, until he reached the terminus of the ground, some six rods in length, when, by touching a spring, he would lift the eight plowshares high and dry from the sod, run his engine a few rods ahead, wheel about on a circle of 25 feet in diameter, drive back to the place whence he started, drop his plow-shares, and whistle his readiness for the next trip, all in the space of two minutes. The combined width of the eight furrows is 9 feet 4 inches, and the manner in which the sod is turned excels anything ever dreamt of by our hawbucking ancestors, who were accustomed to "drive their team a-field." The old farmers, of whom there were a few present, declared that it "beat all natur', as well as all the plowin' they ever seen or hearn tell on." They didn't think, though, after all, that it would ever be worth much, except on the Western praries, "where there wasn't no stones nor nothin'."

A description of the plow has been published in the TIMES, and need not be repeated here. The attendance at the Exhibition yesterday was not very large, and we noticed only two or three ladies on the ground. The Exhibition will be continued to-day and to-morrow, at the hours specified in the advertisement, and it would well repay any person, lady or gentleman, to make a trip thither to see it.

Arizona and Sonora.

MILITARY INTELLIGENCE—THE INDIAN DEPREDATIONS—THE RIGHT OF WAY TO GUAYMAS.

The Arizonian to Sept. 22 has come to hand. A correspondent at Fort Buchanan furnishes it with the following military items:

Lieut. Col. JOHNSON, First Cavalry, acting Inspector General for the Department of New-Mexico, is daily expected here on a tour of inspection. He will be accompanied by Major RHETT, of the Pay Department.

Lieut. COOK, Eighth Infantry, has been out several days after the Indians who stole the horses from Tubac and Arivaca. There are three separate parties out, trailing up the thieves, who are in a fair way of having their deserts meted out to them at last. Lieut. COOK has returned, having trailed the Indians across the line into Sonora.

A few days ago, about 100 Apaches surrounded the Mexican fort at the head of the San Pedro, and burned all the wheat, &c., collected at the place. They destroyed everything in the way of property. Nine men who were within the principal building defended themselves against them.

It is said by a gentleman residing in Magdalena, who has lately visited us, that the Sonoranians are well pleased with the news of our getting the "right of way," through the State from Guaymas.

The notorious horse-thief and deserter, ALENCON BENTLY, is again at large, having succeeded in making good his escape from Fort Filmore before any of his sentence was carried into effect.

IMPORTANT NEW PATENT ON SKIRTS.—A patent was issued on Tuesday last, the 4th inst., to S. H. DOUGHTY, of this City, and others, for what is known as the Woven Skeleton Skirt. This construction of skirt has become highly popular, and has been made by a great number of manufacturers in all parts of the country, under the supposition that it was not patentable.—Tribune.

THE PACIFIC COAST.

ARRIVAL OF THE NORTH STAR.

Revolution at Carthagena.

STATE OF COSTA RICA.

Later from California and the Northern Coast.

The steamship North Star, A. G. JONES, Esq. commanding, from Aspinwall on the 4th inst., with passengers and treasure, arrived at this port at 2 o'clock, this morning.

The North Star has brought the passengers who left San Francisco on the 20th ult., making the entire distance in twenty-one days and a half.

Our obligations are due to the purser for valuable favors.

The specie list of the North Star amounts to $500,000.

THE ISTHMUS AND CENTRAL AMERICA.

The Revolution in Carthagena continued successful. NIETO, the President, wrs popular, and had succeeded in defeating the Government forces. Carthagena and the whole State of Bolivia were in a state of siege.

The revolution in Sanlander was still unsubdued.

Gen. SCOTT and his suite had reached Panama in health and safety on the 4th.

The British steamer Solent arrived at Aspinwall on the 4th, having dates from Greytown to the 2d, and San Juan de Costa Rica to the 25th.

The Government of the the Provisional President, MONTEALEGRE, was getting on with apparent prosperity, but it is quite evident from the littleness of some of its acts, that there are some queer hands at the machine. The Bishop of Costa Rica, LLORENTE, properly banished from Costa Rica for refusing to obey equitable laws, has returned on the invitation of the new Government, and was received at San José with great honors. A new paper has been started at San José, called the Neuva Era, the main object of which appears to be to abuse President MEDINA and Señor MEDINA, the banker.

EDWARD F. CONWAY, the young American, who was sentenced to ten years in the public works for having killed a German (accidentally, it is said,) in a row, has had his sentence commuted by the Supreme Court to four years. It is hoped the United States Consul, Dr. HINE, will be able to get the Government to remit the sentence altogether, as great doubts are expressed of his guilt.

Professor DIMITY arrived at San José on the 22d. Mr. WYSE had also arrived.

The United States frigate Sabine, and the British frigate Valorous, were at San Juan del Norte.

SOUTH AMERICA.

In Peru, President CASTILLA is preparing a costly expedition against Ecuador. It was said that he would take command of the force in person, although this was doubtful.

RUBBO, the legitimate Governor of the Province of Guayaquil, has resigned, and the Provisional Governor had been installed. All the other ports, except Guayaquil, remained blockaded. Dr. MIGUEL CARPIO has been appointed Minister of Foreign Relations, vice DON FABIO MELGAR.

Disturbances had occurred on several American vessels at the Chinchas. The Rising Sun had placed her first and second officers on board the Peruvian steamer General Lerznndi, badly wounded. The second officer is since dead and the first is in a critical condition. The Quean of the Seas and the John Sidney also had disturbances on board.

In obedience to orders from Government, a commission had commenced an examination of the Coal bids. They promised to be of good quality.

In Bolivia, all was quiet. The Government had agreed to pay the British Steam Mail Company $4,000 per year to land and take mails at Cabiga.

On the night of Aug. 19 a revolt occurred at the artillery station of Santiago. It was checked after the sergeant who headed it had been shot. In other parts of Chili much discontent prevails, and President MONTT had obtained from Cougress an extension of extraordinary powers for one year.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

Senator Broderick's Death—The Post-Mortem Examination—The Inquest—The Funeral, &c.

DEATH OF THE HON. D. C. BRODERICK.

From the San Francisco Herald, Sept. 14.

The Hon. DAVID C. BRODERICK expired yesterday morning at twenty minutes past nine o'clock. At twelve o'clock the night previous, the indications appeared favorable for his recovery—the wounded gentleman being easier, his breathing more regular, and his general condition improved. At two o'clock A. M. a change occurred for the worse, and from that hour Mr. BRODERICK failed rapidly. At three o'clock A. M. the last rites of the Church were administered by the Rev. Father MARASCHI. It is as well to note, in this connection, that the Rev. Father CROKE, Vicar-General, and the Rev. Father MARASCHI, waited upon Mr. BRODERICK as early as possible after he had been wounded. At four o'clock Mr. BRODERICK had fallen into a state of insensibility, from which he never emerged. He never uttered a word after four o'clock.

The sad intelligence was immediately conveyed to the City, and produced a deep and settled gloom on the community. The several Courts that were in session adjourned in respect to the memory of the departed Senator. The foreign Consuls hoisted their flags at half mast; the revenue flag of the United States was hoisted at half mast over the Custom-house: the civic flag of San Francisco was hoisted in like manner over the City Hall; all the engine houses carried their flags at half mast and were draped in mourning; the shipping in the harbor displayed like evidences of respect for the memory of Mr. BRODERICK, and a large number of private stores and dwellings wore the sad badges of lamentation and woe.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a post mortem examination was made by Dr. BERTODY, in the presence of Dr. MCNULTY the Coroner, and Drs. HOLMAN, SAWYER, LOEHR, RUSSELL, SHARKEY and others. The autopsy showed that the ball entered the right breast between the second and third ribs, passing under the sternum, (fracturing its edges,) thence over the heart and through the upper lobe of the left lung, whence it took an upward and inward course through the left arm-pit, and lodged in the posterior portion of the biceps muscle of the left arm. An inquest will be held this afternoon.

The mortal remains of the late Senator D. C. BRODERICK were brought to this city at 8½ o'clock last evening, and deposited in the Union Hotel.

Last evening, after the remains of Mr. BRODERICK were deposited in the Union Hotel, they were visited by large numbers of our citizens, all of whom manifested an intense grief. The features are somewhat attenuated and thin, but very natural, and preserving the expression they wore in life. They were even placid and tranquil, a phenomenon noted in all cases of death from gunshot wounds.

The United States District Court, Twelfth District Court, Court of Sessions and Police Court adjourned in respect to the memory of Mr. BRODERICK. His death was announced in appropriate terms in each Court. The Fourth District Court was not in session.

THE INQUEST.

Wednesday afternoon, a little after 2 o'clock, the Coroner, Dr. MCNULTY, held an inquest on the body of the Hon. D. C. BRODERICK. Mr. J. A. GARNER declined to serve as a juror, on the ground that he was a strong personal friend to Mr. BRODERICK. The vacancy was filled, and the jurymen then taken to the Union Hotel and sworn in over the body.

Hon. J. C. McKibbin sworn: I witnessed a duel on the morning of the 13th inst., at or about seven o'clock; it took place in San Mateo County, near the dividing line, and near the south end of Lake Merced; the principals in that duel were Senator D. C. Broderick and Chief Justice D. S. Terry; the distance was ten paces; the weapons were duelling pistols; the friend of D. S. Terry won the choice of weapons; the choice determined by throwing up a half dollar piece, and calling head and tail; the principals after saying they were ready, were given the words, which were "fire—one, two;" they were to fire between the words "fire" and "two;" I saw the pistols loaded with leaden bullets in the presence of both seconds of both parties; they were accepted as being satisfactory; the principals took the positions assigned them at the distance of ten paces; their eyes were at right-angles to a straight line between one principal and the other; after taking their positions, the pistols were taken up by the seconds, cocked in each other's presence, and the hair trigger set; each second then proceeded to his principal and delivered the weapon; the seconds then returned some distance out of the line of fire, and the word was givpn by a second of Mr. Broderick, "fire—one, two;" as near as I could judge, Mr. Broderick discharged his pistol between the words "fire" and "one," about one second intervening between the reports of the two pistols; the report of Mr. Terry's pistol was subsequent, but with a very slight interval; Mr. Broderick appeared to look with surprise at the course his ball had taken; I was about twelve feet from him, midway between the parties; Mr. Broderick seemed to gradually wheel and droop; he lowered himself easily upon the ground; I ran up to him and tried to assist Dr. Loehr in opening his garments; I saw the wound; the blood was not flowing freely; there were no other shots fired; the ball from Mr. Terry's pistol wounded Mr. Broderick; Dr. Loehr then proceeded to examine the wound, and, while doing so, the services of Dr. Hammond were tendered and accepted; the physicians gave him all the relief in their power, and in the course of three-quarters of an hour he was taken up and conveyed to the residence of Mr. Leonidas Haskell; I was with Mr. Broderick up to the time of his death, which occurred yesterday, (Friday,) at twenty minutes past nine o'clock A. M.; D. S. Terry challenged Mr. Broderick; the pistol used I presumed to belong to Dr. Aylett; they were lighter than the ordinary dueling pistols; I examined the trigger of the one used by Mr. Broderick, and I am not positive I did not examine both; I discovered no perceptible difference; I looked at them, tried the springs and found them alike, as nearly as I could judge; there was a party on the ground more conversant with weapons than myself; I asked him to examine them; he did so, and pronouncod them correct. The pistols were loaded alike. Mr. Broderick was born in the District of Columbia, on the 4th of February, 1819. The duel occurred about two miles from the county line; I do not know on whose property; we were not aware of any difference in the pistols, while on the ground, and I know of no difference between them at present; we had a person on the ground for the express purpose of loading the pistols.

Leonidas Haskell, sworn—I was on the ground of the duel; I did not see the firing, but heard the reports of the two pistols; I saw Mr. Broderick fall; there were but two shots fired; I do not know of any differance in the pistols; Mr. Broderick was taken to my house; I can tell nothing more than Mr. McKibbin relative to the duel; his statement is correct.

James L. Stillman sworn—I was present when the duel occurred; after reaching the ground I saw the principals walking to and fro; I saw them placed in position; saw the pistols loaded; saw them shot, and saw Mr. Broderick fall; Mr. J. C. McKibben and Mr. Coulton were the seconds of Mr. Broderick, and Mr. Benham and Mr. Brooks were seconds for Judge Terry; Mr. Hayes appeared to act for Mr. Terry, but was not a second; there were two shots fired on the ground.

Bernard Lagaorde, sworn—I am a gunsmith, and live at No. 208 Washington-street; I was on the ground at the time of the duel; I was there on an order from the friends of Mr. Broderick, to take pistols, powder and balls, and to examine the pistols tha might be used, and to see that they were loaded properly; I examined the pistols which were used, and loaded the one fired by Mr. Broderick; I did not load the one fired by Mr. Terry; a tall gentleman, whose name I do not know, loaded Mr. Terry's pistol; it was properly loaded with the same quantity of powder as the other; the pistol used by Mr. Terry was loaded first, and then the implements handed to me, when I proceeded to load the other; the weapons were alike, but one was a little more delicate on the trigger than the other; Mr. Broderick used the one with the finer trigger; I know this, for I loaded it and handed it to Mr. McKibbin, who gave it to Mr. Broderick; I told Mr. Broderick that the pistols were light on the trigger; both were delicate to the touch, but one more than the other; I saw the firing; there were but two shots fired; I was asked if the pistols were in good order, and after replying in the affirmative I asked Mr. McKibbin why he did not force his principal to use my pistols, and he replied that Mr. Terry had won the choice; the pistols used were brought by the seconds of Mr. Terry; I had never seen them before, but have since; I do not know where they are at present; I did not notice that there was any mark by which one could be distinguished from the other; they could be discharged by a sudden jar or jerk; simply raising them would not cause an explosian; I said, that the weapons were too light on the trigger in the presence of all the seconds; I told one of the seconds of Terry that the pistol which I held was lighter than the other.

Henry Fritz, sworn—I was at the place of the duel; I saw the gentlemen take their positions; saw the shots fired, and saw Mr. Broderick fall; there were but two shots fired; the difference of time was very slight between the reports.

Stillman, recalled—Mr. S. H. Brooks loaded one pistol.

McKibben, recalled—The armorer loaded the pistol which Mr. Broderick used.

This closed the testimony, and after consulting a few moments the jury brought in the following

VERDICT:

We, the undersigned jurors, convened to inquire into the cause of the death of David C. Broderick, who died in the city of San Francisco on the 15th of September, 1859, do find that the deceased was born in the District of Columbia, aged 40 years, and that he came to his death from a wound inflicted by a pistol ball fired from a pistol intentionally, by David S. Terry, on the morning of September 13, 1859. Wm. A. Keith, O. Dickinson, C. A. Fisher, Charles Main, Thos. Gordon, J. W. Gillmore, Geo. C. Shreve.

THE FUNERAL.

Mr. BRODERICK's funeral took place on the 18th. During the forenoon a continual stream of ladies and gentlemen passed through the Union Hotel, pausing a few moments in the room where the body lay in state. The streets adjacent to the Plaza, and the Plaza itself, during the day, were thronged by a vast multitude. Fully ten thousand people must have been in the neighborhood at the appointed hour for the commencement of the obsequies.

Col. E. D. BAKER delivered the oration. As soon as he had concluded, the procession commenced forming. The procession then moved along Kearny-street, without music, to Clay, down Clay to Montgomery, through Montgomery to Market, down Market to Sansome, through Sansome to Washington, up Washington to Montgomery, through Montgomery to Jackson, up Jackson to Stockton, through Stockton to Vallejo, up Vallejo to Powell, along Powell to Pacific, and thence to the City of the Dead in Lone Mountain Cemetery.

The funeral cortege moved in the following order: First, two mounted policemen, to keep the street clear, and see that all obstacles were removed. These were followed by twelve carriages, the last of which was occupied by the Rev. Fathers GALLAGHER and HARRINGTON. Then followed the hearse, with its mournful freight. It was drawn by four black horses, and was draped in the emblems of woe. The hearse was attended by thirty-five pall-bearers, including the Committee of Arrangements.

Immediately following the hearse moved the chief mourners, numbering 132.

Next to these followed the Grand Marshal, JOHN MIDDLETON, and his aid, who were succeeded by the different companies of the Fire Department, marching in regular order of the number of their respective companies. The Department turned out one thousand men, active firemen and exempts. They were succeeded by the Association of California Pioneers, 74 men. Then marched the Illyric Selavonic Society 42 men, followed by citizens on foot to the num, ber of two hundred and eighty-nine men. Then came twelve carriages, conveying ladies exclusively. Some of these contained five and some three, the average being about four ladies to each carriage. A train of one hundred and six open vehicles followed containing ladies and gentlemen, followed in their turn by a long string of horsemen, riding by two's and numbering eighty-two men, which closed the procession.

Nothing could be more impressive than the effect of this long and mournful cortége, as it wound its way through our streets. The total absence of all gaud and pomp, the republican simplicity and unadorned grandeur everywhere observable; the deeply saddened countenances of the thousands upon thousands of spectators, as well as of those who composed the procession, and the impressive silence which reigned, were in keeping with the solemnity of the occasion.

The city was thronged with thousands of people from other places, as well as by our own citizens, who were desirous of either joining the cortége or of testifying their respect to the deceased by their presence. Very frequently large numbers would join the procession and drop out again, overcome by the very unusual heat of the weather. The procession, one of the most imposing, numerically and in appearance, ever seen in this State, large as it was would undoubtedly have been much larger, but for the utter impossibility of obtaining a horse or equipage of any description. A great many residences and places of business were draped in mourning; the engine and hook and ladder-houses wore the badges of grief. The flags of the different Consuls, that of the city of San Francisco, the colors of all the shipping in our harbor, and those of private individuals; were hoisted at half-mast in honor of the departed Senator. The procession was fifty-two minutes in passing a given point of observation.

At 5 o'clock the funeral cortège reached the Cemetery. The pall-bearers assisted in removing the body from the hearse and carried it to the grave, preceded by the Rev. H. P. GALLAGHER and F. HARRINGTON. Father GALLAGHER then addressed the asemblage.

CAUSE OF THE DUEL.

From the San Francisco Herald, Sept. 20.

The steamer of to-day will bear to the East the intelligence of the death of the Hon. DAVID C. BRODERICK, late Senator of the United States, from a wound received in a duel—his antagonist being the Hon. DAVID S. TERRY, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of California. No affair of the kind ever took place in this State that was so grossly misrepresented. A studied attempt has been made to mislead the public mind in regard to all its circumstances, and we have little doubt that by to-day's mail the slanders so smonstrously circulsted among the people of California, will with equal industry be disseminated throughout the Atlantic States. Of this wilful perversion of facts we must acquit the immediate friends of the deceased Senator. Eor the most part, their sorrow at his loss has not made them unjust. The outcry comes from the Black Republicans, by wnom the opportunity has been suized with ferocious avidity to make capital for their party.

The effort, we are happy to say, has entirely failed. It is well-known that the difficulty between Messrs. TERRY and BRODERICK was wholly disconnected with the events of the late canvass. Neither was it identified in any single particular with the antagonism between Messrs. BRODERICK and GWIN. Mr. TERRY has never been a friend of Mr. GWIN; he has never had any affiliation, personal or political, with that Senator, and furthermore, we have the most positive assurance that no friend of Mr. GWIN was in Mr. TERRY's confidence in relation to his proposed correspondence with Mr. BRODERICK. So much for the charge of conspiracy. The vile accusation of unfairness in the fight has already been abundantly refuted.

ARREST OF JUDGE TERRY.

Chief BURKE informs us (says the San Francisco Herald) that Judge TERRY is at present in the custody of the Sheriff of San Joaquin County, having been arrested on a warrant from San Francisco.

POLITICAL.

The Hon. D. S. Dickinson on the Donnelly Letter.

From the Richmond Enquirer.

Below will be found a correspondence which will attract no little attention. The Donnelly letter fraud comes back to plague its perpetrators. Mr. DICKINSON, himself, admits the reception of a copy of the purloined letter. The fact of the copying of the letter is thus established beyond doubt; but who the guilty man is Mr. Dickinson fails to inform the public.

Mr. DICKINSON should not now withhold the name of him who inclosed the copy. He can either restore EUGENE CASSIDY to his former position among gentlemen, whatever that may have been, or confirm him as Confidence CASSIDY for the remainder of his days. Will Mr. DICKINSON hesitate to do justice in the premises?

To the Editors of the Enqvirer:

WASHINGTON CITY, D. C., Oct, 5, 1859.

MESSRS. EDITORS—Oblige me by giving the inclosed correspondence a place in the columns of the Enquirer.

Yours, respectfully, THOS. FITNAM.

WASHINGTON CITY, D. C., Sep. 24, 1859.

Hon. DANIEL S. DICKINSON:

Dear Sir—A friend, writing to me recently from Richmond, Va., states it as a common rumor there that you are an enemy of Gov. WISE, and have been denouncing him for his DONNELLY letter. In reply, I have affirmed that there must be an error in the matter, for I know you so well, I was satisfied you would not indorse this dishonorable conduct of those who have made Gov. WISE's private correspondence a subject of public comment, by noticing, in any way whatever, what was not a legitimate question for public consideration.

If I am right in my estimate of your character, as I think I am, do me the favor of saying so, as I deem it not only due to you, but also to Gov. WISE's Southern friends, that they, at least, should understand you harbor no unfriendly feelings towards him.

I am of opinion the rumor in question originated in mere unauthorized newspaper reports.

At the same time, if you have no objection, let me have your views upon either the necessity, constitutionality or propriety of Congress passing such law, or laws, as may be necessary to secure the rights of property in slaves in the Territories of the United States, as contra-distinguished from that power claimed for the legislative branch of the General Government, by certain political parties, giving it absolute control over the institution of Slavery, whether in the States or Territories. I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
THOMAS FITNAM.

BINGHAMPTON, Oct. 1, 1859.

MY DEAR SIR: I have just returned from Western New-York, where I have been to visit an elder brother and deliver an agricultural address, and, on my return, I find yours of the 24th ult. I thank you for thus affording me an opportunity of branding as an idle and mischievous falsehood, if not, indeed, a malicious one, that I had "denounced Gov. WISE."

My personal acquaintance with the Governor has been slight, but exceedingly pleasant, and his public course has inspired me with high respect for his manly frankness and fearless intrepidity.

The publication of the Donnelly letter I regarded as an outrage, although I attached much less consequence to it than has been given it generally. I saw nothing in it but what a frank and impetuous man might, in the haste and confidence of private correspondence, dash off to a supposed friend. I think the whole matter of the letter has been vastly overrated. A copy was sent me, but I treated it as confidential, and only exhibited it to a particular and discreet friend. It excited no feelings in me when I first read it, and, on a full review, I have never been able to give it the great consequence which others seem to have done.

I saw the shameless fabrications of my conduct on reading it, published far and wide, But I regarded them beneath my notice. You must not, my dear Sir, give heed to the thousand idle and malicious rumors, public or private, which will be connected with my name for the next six months. If the expression were not irreverent, I should say, they will be so numerous and foul, that the day of judgment will not be able to pass upon them.

Upon my views of the questions, to which you call my attention, I can only point you to my public course in the Senate and elsewhere, where, I think it will be seen, I did not disregard the rights of the States, nor the rights of the people, nor of property, &c.

Sincerely, yours, D. S. DICKINSON.

THOMAS FITNAM.

Political Items.

We are informed that the Hon. AUGUSTUS SCHELL was appointed one of the Delegates at large to the Democratic National Convention at Charleston, upon the written application of the Hon. D. S. DICKINSON, who asked it as a special favor to himself. The course which Mr. DICKINSON pursued in the State Convention certainly entitled him to have his wishes gratified in this particular.

Ex-President TYLER has written a letter to the National Intelligencer, correcting a statement made by that journal as to an alleged change of opinion on his part concerning the power of Congress over Slavery in the Territories. In its historical summary of this question the Intelligencer had cited Mr. TYLER's declaration in 1820 that Congress had no constitutional right to prohibit Slavery in the Territories:—whereas, in 1845, as President, he signed the resolution admitting Texas into the Union, and providing that the Missouri Compromise line should be applied to Texas as a recognized compact on the subject of Slavery. The Intelligencer inferred from this action that Mr. TYLER's opinions on the subject of the unconstitutionality of such a prohibition must have undergone a change. The Ex-President says the inference is erroneous,—and is due to the confounding of a question of expediency with one of constitutionality. The admission of Texas was by compact with that State,—and Texas had a perfect right to impose such terms as she might see fit. Expediency and sound policy are the only umpires to decide whether those terms shall be accepted or rejected. He adds that, "in the numerous contracts between the United States and the States themselves ceding territory—Virginia leading the way—terms and conditions for such cessions have been tendered and accepted on either side, all going quite as far as the resolutions of Texas, without any question of constitutionality being raised."

The Louisiana Negro Law—Interference of the British Consul.—The following, from the New-Orleans True Delta Oct. 5, is an indication that the new Negro Law of Louisiana is likely to occasion serious trouble:

"The late law in regard to colored persons arriving in Louisiana from other States and foreign countries, is likely to come up in an international point of view. The law ordains that all colored persons coming here shall be reported to the Chief of Police and sent to prison for safe keeping until the vessel on which they arrived is ready to leave port. Assistant Recorder Monroe, yesterday, received a communication from the British Consul in regard to one Peter Bean, a black man, who came on the English ship Sandusky, and whom the Consul represents to be a British subject, and not amenable to this law. The Recorder signed one of the forms under the old law, granting Bean permission "to remain on board of said vessel, and pass ashore during said vessel's stay on the business of the vessel, bond according to law having been given." We do not know whether this order was issued or not, but we perceive that the Chief of Police has had Bean placed in custody, as he is manifestly bound to do by the new law until it is set aside by the State or Federal Courts. We suppose the British Consul will take action in the matter.

In Hadley, Mass., the tobacco crop, which has just been harvested, is valued at about $40,000—about double the value of 25,000 bushels of corn, the crop that has been ordinarily raised in that town for the last 20 years. The latter crop would require about 700 acres for its cultivation, while the tobacco has been raised on about 200 acres.

TO DEALERS IN WOVEN SKIRTS.

We hereby give notice that Letters Patent of the United States have just been granted, vesting in us the exclusive right to make, sell and use, what is known in the market as the "Woven Skeleton Skirt," whether the springs are inserted while in the loom or afterwards.

It is generally known to manufacturers that this Skirt is original with us; but inasmuch as dealers may not be aware of our right, we hereby notify the Trade that the "Woven Skirts" cannot be legally sold after this date unless they bear our stamp, or are manufactured by parties holding a license from us. The name of the manufacturer, and date of the patent, Oct. 4, 1859, must be stamped on each Skirt. The fact that we have heretofore stamped our Skirts "Patent applied for" is well known, and we trust that all honorable merchants as well as manufacturers will now voluntarily comply with the requirements of the law, without a necessity for compulsory measures. The Trade will please take notice that they will be liable to us for damages for the sale of all goods manufactured without a license after this date. We are prepared to license responsible parties to manufacture under our patent. Application can be made to WILLIAM KING, No. 153 West 15th-st., or S. H. DOUGHTY, No. 22 John-st., who are fully authorized to grant such license.

JAMES DRAPER,
JAMES BROWN,
WILLIAM KING,
New-York, Oct. 5, 1859. S. H. DOUGHTY,

Messrs. S. H. Doughty and others.

Sirs: As there two methods of producing the Skirt patented by you this day, it may be of service definitely to explain the scope of your claim. In one method the hoops are inserted while the tapes are in the loom, and during the process of manufacturing the same; in the other method the tapes are manufactured in a condition ready to receive the hoops, and the latter are inserted afterward. Skirts produced by either of these methods are covered by your patent, and any parties making or selling the same are liable to you for damages for all made or sold after this date. Very respectfully,
New-York, Oct. 5, 1859. THOMAS D. STETSON.

MUSICAL.

THE DRIGGS PATENT PIANO-FORTE

Are all of the full scale of 7-octave. The most experienced workmen, the greatest perfection of mechanical skill, and the best seasoned materials are employed in their manufacture.

They are constructed on a solid iron frame or bedplate, entirely separate from the case, thus relieving the case, sound-boards and all the wood-work from the strain of the strings, making them much more solid and enduring. There are two sounding boards, arranged as those of a violin, giving three times the amount of vibrating surface found in any other piano; which, being free from the strain of the strings, becomes more sonorous and pure on their vibrations as the piano becomes older. Their construction is the most simple and scientific, and they are the most enduring and full-toned pianos ever made. Call and see them, at WM. HALL & SON'S, New store, No. 543 Broadway, Between Spring and Prince sts.

J. GALL, PRACTICAL OPTICIAN, NO. 172 BOWERY, BETWEEN BROOME AND SPRING STREETS.—Mr. GALL asks the attention of the public to a new style of perspective ground glass of the finest flint, which, from their high polish and true ground, produce pure and improved vision. It is their perfect transmission of light that enables the wearer of these spectacles to prosecute the most trying labors of the eye without those distressing results which follow the use of other glasses. Adjusting spectacles to vision requires great judgment on the part of the optician. Many sights are injured and some totally lost for want of this. It is of the utmost importance to the public to have good spectacles and accurately applied. J. GALL has devoted his attention for twenty years, in America, to this branch of optics alone. His knowledge and experience in optical science will enable him to afford useful advice to persons of weak or diseased eyes, or defective vision, and to furnish them with glasses adapted to their respective cases, by which the eye may be benefited, and the injuries which frequently occur from injudicious and illy-adapted glasses may be avoided. A large assortment of spectacles and eye-glasses, in gold, silver, shell, fine steel, and other frames. Spectacle Glasses reset, and all kinds of optical instruments carefully repaired.

STEINFELD'S BITTERS.—A CARD.—NEARLY all the bitters in the market at the present time, notwithstanding the puffing and advertising, are nothing but common stuff and trash, except the French Cognac bitters, and they are really medicated, and are what they are represented to be. Any family could make as good bitters as those to which we have alluded as being no better than trashy quack medicines. The public are being humbugged by the charlatans who sell them. S. Steinfeld desires to have his Cordial Cognac Bitters subjected to the strictest chemical analysis by any chemist, and is willing to abide by the test. The public can depend upon them as a cure for all bowel complaints, and a sure preventive against diarrhœa, dysentery, dyspepsia, piles, bilious fevers, and all bilious complaints. For sale by all druggists, grocers and bars, and by S. STEINFELD, No. 37 John-st., sole agent for the United States.

ARTIFICIAL EYES.—THOMAS DAVIS, OF No. 483 Broadway, New-York (Wallack's Theatre Building, Room No. 16) is the only maker of the Improved Artificial Human Eye which, for color, motion, fit and expression, so imitate the natural eye that the wearer can defy detection.

PHRENOLOGY POINTS OUT THE PERFECTIONS, defects, and congenial pursuits, as applied by J. SCOTT McKINLEY, No. 75 Nassau-st. N. B.—Persons sending their address will be visited in the evening.

TO PRINTERS.—WANTED, A SECOND-HAND large Cylinder Press—Hoe or Taylor—size either 46 x31, or 50x31. Also, a second-hand steam engine, three to five horse power. Terms cash. Apply to E. R. WEBB & CO., No. 18 Dutch-st., corner of Fulton.

The reason why, is that by Nature's own process it restores the natural color permanently after the hair becomes gray; supplies the natural fluids, and thus makes it grow on bald heads, removes all dandruff, itching, and heat from the scalp, quiets and tones up the nerves, and thus cures all nervous headache, and may be relied upon to cure all diseases of the scalp and hair; it will stop and keep it from falling off; makes it soft, glossy, healthy, and beautiful, and if used by the young two or three times a week, it will never fall or become gray; then, reader, read the following, and judge for yourselves:

New-York, Jan. 8, 1858.

Messrs. O. J. Wood & Co.,

Gentlemen: Having heard a good deal about Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, and my hair being quite gray, I made up my mind to lay aside the prejudices which I, in common with a great many persons, had against all manner of patent medicines, and a short time ago I commenced using your article, to test it for myself.

The result has been so very satisfactory that I am very glad I did so, and in justice to you, as well as for the encouragement of others who may be as gray as I was, but who, having my prejudice, without my reasons for setting it aside, are unwilling to give your Restorative a trial till they have further proof, and the best proof being occular demonstration, I write you this letter, which you may show to any such, and also direct them to me for further proof, who am in and out of the N. Y. Wire Railing Establishment every day.

My hair is now its natural color and much improved in appearance every way, being glossier and thicker and much more healthy looking. I am, yours respectfully HENRY JENKINS.
Corner Columbia and Carroll sts., Brooklyn.

Livingston, Ala., Feb. 14, 1858.

Prof. Wood—Dear Sir: Your Hair Restorative has done much good in this part of the country. My hair has been slightly diminishing for several years, caused, I suppose, from a slight burn when I was quite an infant. I have been using your Hair Restorative for six weeks, and I find that I have a fine head of hair now growing, after having used all other remedies known, to no effect. I think it the most valuable remedy now extant, and advise all who are afflicted that way to use your remedy.

You can publish this if you think proper. Yours, &c.,
S. W. MIDDLETON.

Philadelphia, Sept. 9, 1857.

Prof. Wood—Dear Sir: Your Hair Restorative is proving itself beneficial to me. The front, and also the back part of my head almost lost its covering—was in fact bald. I have used but two half-pint bottles of your Restorative, and now the top of my head is well studded with a promising crop of young hair, and the front is also receiving its benefit. I have tried other preparations without any benefit whatever. I think, from my own personal recommendation, I can induce many others to try it.

Yours, respectfully,
D. R. THOMAS, M. D., No. 464 Vine-st.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium, and small; the small holds half a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, forty per cent. more in proportion, and retails for $3 a bottle.

O. J. WOOD & CO., Proprietors, No. 312 Broadway, New-York, (in the great N. Y. Wire Railing Establishment,) and No. 114 Market-st., St. Louis, Mo.

And sold by all good druggists and fancy goods dealers.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The special correspondent of this paper at Washington informs us that the action of Commodore Tatnall and our Envoy, Mr. Ward, in regard to the events in China, has met with the entire approbation of Government. There is no intelligence in the latest despatches received at the State Department additional to that embodied in the letter of Mr. Ward, published in the Times yesterday morning. In respect to the guerilla escapade at Brownsville, the Administration, we are told, is disposed to discover in the affair the germ of that long-sought quarrel with Mexico which is to solve the knotty question of our relations with that country. The subject will engage the attention of the Cabinet to-day. Mr. T. F. Meagher, we also learn, has proceeded to Costa Rica to act with such support as he may find as a right wing to the invading army of Walker. Mr. Meagher is represented as being in the interest of Ex-President Mora, and as relying upon his character of bearer of dispatches to protect his intrigues.

A later dispatch from Mexico apprizes us that, in taking the field for the ensuing campaign, Miramon disregards the Liberals menacing the capital at the North, and directs his first efforts to the capture of Alvarado. Coupled with the active preparations of Gen. Alvarez for a march on the City of Mexico, it may be inferred that it is from the Pinto chief the conservatives anticipate the stroke of fate, and only hope to evade it by a movement to the South.

The lay delegates to the Diocesan Convention from Flushing, L. I., have published a remonstrance against the restoration of Bishop Onderdonk. They refer to the testimony given against the Bishop by a lady of Flushing, now deceased, and declare that the removal of the sentence would be an act to gratify the Bishop's pride, at the expense of sacred feeling and just right.

The Secretary of the Treasury promptly and favorably responded to the request for the use of the steam Revenue Cutter Harriet Lane to cruise for the disabled steamer Quaker City. Capt. Faunce accordingly took on board an extra supply of coal and some heavy hawsers, and left this port yesterday at noon.

The Board of Supervisors received a communication from the Police Commissioners, calling for appropriations for repairing old ballot-boxes and procuring new ones. The quarterly report of the Comptroller and a statement of receipts, appropriations, expenditures and loans on account of the Board of Supervisors from the same officer, were submitted, and it was directed that they be printed. A resolution directing the County Clerk to prepare and certify copies of the poll lists used at the last general election, in election districts affected by the recent ordinance redistricting the City, was adopted. A resolution in favor of paying part of the expense of repairing the Comptroller's office, was adopted, and so was a resolution calling upon the legal adviser of the Board to give his opinion with regard to the power of the Board of Supervisors to fill vacancies in the Board of Registration. The Supervisors will meet next Saturday, at 3 P. M., to take such action on this subject as it may be deemed that they are authorized to take. The Board of Governors have passed a resolution restricting the use of tobacco in the Workhouse Department to the boat's crew. The weekly report showed the number in the institution, Oct. 1, to have been 7,346, and the number remaining Oct. 7, 7,473.

Adjourned meetings of Mozart Hall Assembly Conventions were held last evening. John J. Reilly was nominated in the Eighth District, Wm. P. Dunn in the Ninth, and William Gage in the Twelfth. Nominations have yet to be made in the Second, Fourth, Fifth, Seventh, Eleventh, Thirteenth and Fourteenth Districts.

The first of a course of four lectures, before the "Gillette Young Men's Association," was delivered by Prof. O. M. Mitchell, last evening, in Calvary Baptist Church, Twenty-third-street. His subject was "Evidences of the Being of a God, drawn from the Physical Universe." The building was filled with a gratified audience.

Flour was in very active demand, and prices of low grades, especially, advanced 5c.@10c. ℔ bbl. Total receipts, 13,298 bbls.; total sales, 28,150 bbls. Wheat, Corn and Rye were more sought after at much higher rates. Provisions were in fair request. Prime Pork was decidedly dearer. The principal sales of Coffee were 500 bags Rio at 11½c.@12c. ℔ ℔. Sugars were purchased to the extent of 762 hhds. and 400 boxes, at full quotations. Molasses was quiet. Rice was more inquired for at $3@$4 ℔ 100 ℔s. Only 450 bales Cotton were disposed of, including Middling Upland at 11¼c.@11⅜c. ℔ ℔. Fish, Metals and Oils were lightly dealt in. Hides attracted rather more attention. Leather, Lime, Hops and Seeds were inactive. A pretty fair business was transacted in Hay, Tallow and Tobacco, at uniform figures. Naval Stores and Whisky were in demand. The freight engagements were more extensive. The movement in favor of the closing of business at the Corn Exchange at half-past 12 o'clock was making steady headway among the dealers in Provisions. Some of these gentlemen, however, continue to linger on the floor till after 1 o'clock P. M., and long after both the Flour and Grain trade adjourn for the day. An early and uniform hour of adjournment is much to be desired.

On the Stock Exchange yesterday there was another advance of one ℔ cent. on the Share list, New-York Central closing 80⅞. And a large business was done in State Stock at full prices. The Money Market steady. The Foreign Exchanges for the Asia in fair request on the basis of 110 ℔ cent. on London. The New-York and Erie election resulted in the choice of the ticket printed under our last Money head, comprising the two English delegates; the Receiver, Mr. Marsh, and one of the Mortgage Trustees Mr. Bancroft Davis, in addition to about one-half the old Board, all understood to concur in the plan of maintaining the Bonds and Shares of the Company, without scaling or assessing either class. This plan we published at length on Monday last.

Prize-Fighting.—There is a very stringent law upon our statute-books against prize-fighting,—yet these brutal conflicts have come to be every-day occurrences among us. We published yesterday an offer from the "Benicia Boy" to meet Morrissey again in the ring for a prize of $10,000; and to-day Mr. Morrissey, through our columns, accepts the challenge. Both these parties publish their purpose to violate the law of the State;—yet there seems to be no disposition in any quarter to prevent them from fulfilling their threat or to vindicate the law which they thus openly con[illegible] repudiate. We really do not see the propriety of having such an enactment upon the book if it is to be so thoroughly a dead letter.

Our Relations with Mexico.

It is understood that our Minister, Mr. McLane, is about to resume his official post near the Mexican Government. We hope he may carry with him such instructions from the President as will enable him to establish with that Republic, relations more in harmony with the permanent interests of the two countries than have obtained hitherto. Unless we have entirely mistaken the tendency of events and the temper of the Government of Mexico for the past six months, Mr. Buchanan has it in his power to signalize his Administration by a Mexican policy which shall satisfy fully the progressive instinct of the American people, while it will at the same time consolidate and harmonize the elements of order and stability in the Mexican Republic. Indeed he must adopt such a policy, or else see Mexico become, not only a scene of domestic anarchy, but of serious disturbance to the internal politics of the United States.

Mexico, as the world knows, is at this moment a prey to civil war and upon the very brink of disintegration and anarchy. The Government which we have recognized, and which represents the sentiments and enjoys the sympathy of the great mass of the people, has been driven from the capital by its rival. Miramon, backed by the army and the Church, holds the City of Mexico:—Juarez, supported solely by voluntary contributions of men and of money from the people, is represented by Gen. Degollado, whose head-quarters and base of operations are at San Luis Potosi. Each is at the head of six or seven thousand men:—and upon the result of the engagement which will sooner or later take place between them, will depend the temporary solution of the struggle for ascendancy. But that decision will be only for the moment, because the contest does not represent the whole country. Miramon has no support whatever in the country at large: his strength is confined to the Capital and to the region within a hundred and fifty miles of it. Beyond this he has no aid and no sympathy. The six or seven Departments of the North and the five or six Departments of the South, all, not only sympathize with Juarez, but recognize his Government and maintain active relations with it. He is the representative of all that is liberal, legal and popular in Mexico: and the only active resistance to his rule is that which the money of the Church enables the mercenaries of the Army to oppose. But he encounters a much more serious hostility in the reluctance of distant departments to bear their share of the public burdens, and in the personal jealousies of local authorities and subordinate military chiefs. Peschiera in Sonora and Sinaloa, is carrying on a revolution of his own; Vidaurri, at Monterey, has just withdrawn from the general cause and put himself at the head of a local movement; Alvarez sits independent and inactive in the South; and while all three recognize the central authority of Juarez, they find it much more convenient and satisfactory to themselves to hold their own local power unmolested, than to aid him in regaining a sovereignty which will reduce them to subordinate positions. The rest of the departments at a distance from the centre, are led by the same motives to pursue the same course: so that thirteen or fourteen of the departments of the Republic are mere lookers-on, awaiting the result of the struggle which is carried on in the six or seven central provinces.

But they are by no means indifferent to that result, nor will their action be uninfluenced by it. If Juarez shall succeed and regain possession of the Government, the whole country will not only acquiesce, but come actively to his aid. He may not be strong enough even then, without assistance, to suppress all further attempts at insurrection; but he will undoubtedly be able to hold the Republic together, and to prevent its falling a prey either to European intervention or to the ambitious military chiefs who would gladly divide it among themselves. But if, on the other hand, Juarez is defeated and Miramon maintains himself at the Capital, the doom of the Republic is sealed. The provinces will not acknowledge his sway and will be strong enough to resist every attempt on his part to coerce them. Alvarez in the South, Peschiera in the North, Vidaurri in New-Leon and Chihuahua, and Degollado in San Luis Potosi, will assert their independence of each other and of the Central power, and Mexico will become merely a name for a collection of independent States. As a nation she will, to all practical intents, cease to exist. The forms of a Central Government may possibly still be kept up; Ministers from other Powers may continue to reside in her capital; she may preserve the semblance of an army,—may levy taxes, impose tariffs upon foreign commerce, and still claim recognition among the nations of the world; but the reality of national power will have departed. She can no longer enforce her exactions upon her own people, nor perform her duties towards foreign states. She can neither pay her debts, protect foreign residents, nor respond to just demands for injuries which she will be powerless to prevent. She must inevitably, therefore, become the victim of foreign wars and the prey of the strongest among her foes. The choice is simply between Juarez and a prolonged nationality, more or less substantial, and Miramon with anarchy.

There are public men in the United States who advocate the latter alternative. They desire that Mexico shall fall to pieces,—in order that we may obtain our share of the fragments. We admit the probability that if Miramon succeeds we shall have Sonora, Chihuahua, and perhaps Coahuila, first overrun by lawless fillibusters, and then tendered to us by the local Governors, who will maintain a semblance of authority over them. We admit, also, the glittering aspect of the prize. But it is well to consider that in the present condition of our internal politics we cannot seize it, or even suffer it to fall into our hands, without danger to ourselves. The leading fact in our current political history is that of a struggle between the North and South for domination in the Federal Government. All other political questions are incidental and subordinate to this. We have just gone through one hotly-contested engagement of this sort—not without peril to our union. The Kansas contest is ended, and the victory remains with the North; but it has left heats, and resentments, and apprehensions behind it, which it is not well, and may not be we may acquire [illegible] next [illegible] years will become a new Kansas, and will give rise to a fresh controversy, like that from which we have just emerged. It is useless to say these controversies for power are permanently settled; nothing but defeat, absolute and complete, on one side or the other, can ever settle them. No political theories, no laws of Congress, no action of local legislatures, no decisions of Courts, can ever end the struggle so long as the field is kept open and the tempting prize hung up. The Kansas war between North and South will be renewed whenever new provinces are to add their weight to the political power of one section or the other of the confederacy. The strife can be avoided only by avoiding the occasion for it. There are men in our public councils, and parties in both sections of the country, who do not wish to avoid it. They court it. They have made up their minds to disunion, as desirable per se—and they seek these conflicts as the means of reaching that end. The Disunionists of the South and the Abolitionists of the North will unite in opposing all interference in the affairs of Mexico, because they both desire that Mexico should fall to pieces, and her provinces become the scene of new conflicts between the North and South on the subject of Slavery.

We do not mean to say, nor to imply, that interference in Mexico is opposed upon no other grounds:—but only that these two parties have this common ground for their opposition to it. There are many, we are well aware, who deprecate it on the broader ground of general principle, and from a sincere apprehension of still greater perils from other sources. And we should certainly share their apprehensions and join in their objections to any intervention which should bear even the semblance of hostility, or even of unfriendliness, to the solid independence and territorial integrity of the Mexican Republic. We would never send a soldier thither but upon the invitation of the rightful Government of Mexico:—and we would never permit our power to be exercised there but for the support of that Government in its effort to secure our rights. Unless we are entirely mistaken in the position of Mexican affairs, everything which our best interests require can be attained without the least departure from these principles.

Those of our readers who recall the letters of our special correspondent, written from Vera Cruz in May last, may remember that the Mexican Government of Juarez made a distinct proposition to Mr. McLane for the recognition of certain mutual relations, interests and obligations between the two Republics. It was proposed that each should regard the permanent integrity of the other as essential to their mutual welfare;—that each should hold itself bound to afford the other all the good offices of friendship within its power; that each should guarantee to the other the maintenance of a Republican Government, and lend the other, under proper regulations and on due application therefor, the aid of her money and her men of science in case both of foreign and of internal wars. Such a proposition, coming from Mexico, could have of course but one meaning:—it was a distinct invitation, couched in such terms as Mexican pride and proper self-respect required, for us to aid the Mexican Government, by money and by military officers, in putting down insurrections, in repelling attempts that might be made by European Powers to change the Republican form of government, and in maintaining order and stability throughout the country. It was a proposition for a mutual alliance, offensive and defensive, between the two Republics of North America,—precisely such an alliance as our ambition might have desired, but which we could not solicit without exposing ourselves to the imputation of seeking to protect only that we might absorb, but which we can concede when sought by the weaker Power. That proposition, we have reason to believe, is still open to our acceptance. Why has it not received some prompt and befitting answer? Its intrinsic importance entitles it to attention, and the whole country will expect from it, at the hands of the President, some adequate result. It offers one of those large and rare opportunities for shaping the destiny of a nation, and regulating the relations of a continent, which no statesman in authority can let slip, without being branded by history as unequal to his place and unworthy of his position.

Nor has Mexico left the matter in this vague, general form. She has pointed out the precise mode by which our Government may avail itself of the invitation. We have asked at her hands a reduction of her duties, a revision of her tariff, the satisfaction of our claims, the protection of our citizens;—and she has declared her willingness to grant them all. We have solicited the right of way across her territory to our possessions on the Pacific, accompanied by such guarantees as would render it safe. She has offered, upon terms to which we do not object,—the payment of four millions of dollars,—to concede us transit routes leading through the richest of her provinces,—to protect our citizens and our property passing over them to the extent of her power, and to call upon us for military aid whenever she may herself be unable to afford the protection required. The draft of such a treaty was brought to Washington by Mr. McLane, and the Mexican Government has declared its willingness to sign it. The President urges the additional stipulation that we shall have the right to send troops to protect those routes, whenever in our judgment it may be necessary, and without waiting for the call of the Mexican authorities.

We are not disposed to complain that Mr. Buchanan should act with caution in a negotiation of this kind, and that he should be solicitous to put the benefits we are to derive from its conclusion beyond contingency. His experience of Mexican diplomacy has not perhaps inspired unhesitating confidence in the frankness and fidelity of that Government:—and the country would naturally censure the conclusion of a treaty which should impose certain definite and not inconsiderable burdens upon us, and yet fail to secure the advantages which had induced us to assume them. But on the other hand it is only fair to concede that what we ask of Mexico is well calculated to touch her pride and alarm her fears. To demand permission to march our troops into her territory at our own discretion, for the protection of rights she may concede to us, is to go very far towards encroaching upon that sovereignty and self-respect which no nation, however weak, can be expected to lay aside. It should be considered moreover that she makes the concession because she needs our aid,—and that the same necessity will compel her to ask it. It is by no means clear that, under such concessions as Mexico is willing to make, we should not have the right, in case of necessity, to protect these routes ourselves:—but in any event we have every reason to believe that the Mexican Government would gladly [illegible], if it should become too weak to contend of itself against the elements of disorder in the country at large.

The benefits of such a treaty as the one proposed are so palpable and so great that we cannot help believing Mr. Buchanan will authorize Mr. McLane to sign it immediately on his return to Mexico. It will at once give vigor and vitality to the Juarez Government,—afford us new and important routes to our Pacific coast, relieve our commerce with Mexico from heavy burdens, and give fresh impetus and direction to that stream of business emigration which must eventually revolutionize the provinces of Northern Mexico, and render them as rich in enterprize and energy as they now are in minerals and in soil. It will lay the foundation for the solid and permanent prosperity of Mexico,—a prosperity which will be due to us and of which we shall reap the chief advantage. The opportunity is one which the Administration cannot afford to neglect,—and we trust that Mr. McLane will return to Mexico with full authority to complete the work he has so well commenced.

Chaff for Old Birds.

The Donnelly letter, in spite of the doubts which have been recently expressed respecting the existence of any such person as Donnelly at all, still continues to agitate men's minds. The Richmond Enquirer, Governor Wise's organ, has just been giving utterance to another groan over the document in question, at the same time publishing another correspondence which, in many ways, is much more remarkable than the Donnelly correspondence itself.

A Mr. Thomas Fitnam, it appears, heard from a friend in Richmond, Va., that there was a common rumor in that part of the world that Mr. D. S. Dickinson did not like Gov. Wise, and had "been denouncing him for his Donnelly letter." Now he, (Fitnam,) upon receipt of this remarkable intelligence, at once replied—so that the gossip of a huge city like Richmond might not shake the Union to its centre—that there "must be an error in the matter;" that he knew Dickinson well, and was satisfied that that facetious old gentleman would never do anything so dishonorable as comment upon Gov. Wise's communications to "B. Donnelly." He was, however, not quite sure, so he determined to open a correspondence with Mr. Dickinson on the subject. He sets forth in his letter all the facts of the case, asks Mr. Dickinson to oblige Fitnam by formally denying the Richmond rumor, and then comes the pith of the communication in a closing paragraph:

> "At the same time," says the artful Fitnam, "if you have no objection, let me have your views upon either the necessity, constitutionality, or propriety of Congress passing such law or laws as may be necessary to secure the rights of property in slaves in the Territories of the United States, as contra-distinguished from that power claimed for the legislative branch of the General Government, by certain political parties, giving it absolute control over the institution of Slavery, whether in the States or Territories."

Mr. Dickinson, however, was not to be taken in by this transparent trick—so he replied, denying the great Richmond rumor, and thus postponing the dissolution of the Union—and then disposed of the Fitnam's final poser in the following Delphic fashion:

> "Upon my views of the questions to which you call my attention, I can only point you to my public course in the Senate and elsewhere, where, I think it will be seen, I did not disregard the rights of the States, nor the rights of the people, nor of property, &c."

As nothing can be made out of Dickinson, we strongly advise Mr. Fitnam, if he wishes to keep himself before the public, to single out some other prominent politician, say Mr. Seward, on his return from Europe, and address him somewhat in this fashion:

> Washington, D. C., November.
> Dear Sir: I have this morning received a letter from a friend in Mugginsville, W. T., who informs me that it was commonly rumored in that city that while in Paris you, on one occasion, ordered a peach in a restaurant for which you were charged eighteen cents, American money, and that on the impulse of the moment you exclaimed in English, that the peach in question, you confessed, was good, but "devilish dear."
> I need not, my dear Sir, suggest to a man of your age and position the inaccuracy of language betrayed in the qualification of such an adjective as "dear" by such an adverb as "devilish," nor need I allude to the profanity of this mode of expressing one's self under any circumstances however provoking. I am satisfied from what I know of your character and antecedents that you said nothing of the kind; but should like to be able to give this painful rumor a formal contradiction, proceeding from yourself in person. Will you, therefore, do me the favor to give me the true version of the story by return of post, as I fear my friends at Mugginsville are laboring under the most painful anxiety.
> Will you at the same time, if you have no objection, favor me with your meaning in speaking of "the irrepressible conflict" in your address at Rochester; whether that sentiment was original on your part, or taken from Webster, and what are your general views as to the prospects of the Free Soil Party for the next ten years? Will you also state whether you are a candidate for the Presidency, and if so, on what circumstances you suppose your chances of success to be based?
> Respectfully yours,
> THOMAS FITNAM.

If we may, however, give Mr. Fitnam the advice best suited to his case, it will be to drop this mode of becoming famous, and take to one a little more legitimate and respectable, even if more thorny and laborious. The practice on the part of illustrious obscurities, of pushing themselves into a brief notoriety by writing impertinent letters to prominent men for the purpose of extracting political confessions of faith from them, has grown into an intolerable nuisance. Every man of eminence, small or great, in the political world, is pursued over the continent now-a-days by a band of small toadies like Fitnam and Donnelly, and assailed by them either with several deputations asking him to be President next time, or else with foolish letters, written on the most absurd pretexts, asking for his opinion upon all sorts of subjects, simply that the world may see that Donnelly and Fitnam carry on confidential communications with Dickinson and Wise. We would like to see the last of these silly performances, and hope that candidates for the Presidency will at least do the public the favor, when they get an interrogatory epistle from a blockhead, to tell him to mind his own business.

The Floating Hospital.—The very successful experiment of the hospital ship Florence Nightingale during the past Summer—imperfect though that experiment was in many details—has established the fact that the floating system is the proper solution of our quarantine difficulties. One essential point is the satisfaction that the new scheme has given to all parties in the late "Staten Island war." The Florence Nightingale is the treaty of peace which the combatants have quietly accepted. She is now moored in the Narrows, having been removed from the Lower Bay, where her services are no longer required. It must not, however, be imagined that the Nightingale is a model hospital. If a Summer's experience has demonstrated the superior advantages of the floating system, it has also demonstrated the necessity of divers alterations and improvements in the vessel's internal arrangements. In spite of all the drawbacks under which the Nightingale has labored, and of the opposition which the plan so steadily encountered in certain quarters, it is important to know that all the yellow-fever patients received on board were successfully treated, and that during their terms of confinement they suffered no inconvenience from the motion of the ship or from any other cause whatever. Upon these points, we understand, Dr. Harris, the physician, will soon make a satisfactory report. It is to be hoped that the Legislature will take action in the matter during the approaching session, and that if the Nightingale has proved the superior economy and benefit of the floating system, it will become a permanent institution, and place our Quarantine troubles for ever at rest. The service requires a vessel of larger dimensions than the Nightingale, and one whose interior arrangements shall be constructed on strict principles of health. We trust that the accomplishment of this most important undertaking will not be confided to political schemers or interested partisans, but to experienced and scientific men, in which case the public may expect to have a Quarantine next season that will be satisfactory to all parties—Staten Islanders, Jerseymen, New-Yorkers, and Hospital patients—a quarantine that will guarantee, as far as such an institution can, the health of the Metropolis and its environs.

The Fillibusters Again.

Our Washington correspondent mentions a rumor that Mr. T. F. Meagher's visit to Costa Rica is connected with the political affairs of that country, and that he goes in the interest of President Mora and with the intention of aiding his restoration to power. If there is any foundation in this statement, the men who are to do the work must be expected to go from some other quarter of the Union, as none accompanied Mr. Meagher from this City.

In this connection the following extract of a private letter from an intelligent and well-informed gentleman in Mobile, is not without interest:

> "I assure you from my own observation that the present expedition is the largest, the best appointed, and that possessing the greatest chances of success, of any that ever set out on this adventurous errand. It consists of vastly superior materials, as I know from seeing some three hundred of the men. Among the officers are several that held commissions in the United States Army during the Mexican war. A few persons of high social standing and considerable wealth have joined it, from a wild spirit of adventure. I am acquainted with some of the principal leaders, and they assure me that they are expected in Nicaragua by a numerous party inimical to Martinez's Government. Mora's expulsion is also construed by them into a very favorable omen. They apprehend no interference on the part of the Administration, and appear unaccountably confident, either on the strength of private assurances, or from the fact that the expedition is ostensibly designed for Chiriqui. Little effort is, however, made to conceal the real purpose, since a party leaving Mobile to rendezvous at New-Orleans unfurled the Nicaraguan flag at their departure. The entire expedition will consist of about 800 men, setting out in two distinct bodies, and, it is presumed, at different times and from different places. It is also intimated that the French Emperor views this enterprise favorably, as the adventurers disclaim any intention of annexation to the United States. Considering the violent and declamatory hostility to the Belly contract throughout this country, France, it is argued, would gladly see the Isthmus in the hands of a little nation, powerless to aggression, yet sufficiently vigorous to give vitality to such schemes.
> "The plan is to sail directly for San Juan, and take possession of the river. In case of success, much larger numbers are of course ready to reinforce them, from Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, and Louisiana."

Our telegraphic advices do not confirm the sanguine expectations thus set forth. The Constitution repeats its assurance that the President has given the most rigorous orders to the Federal officers at Southern ports to use every effort to prevent the departure of any such expedition: and as it says that the South is at last convinced these movements can do no good, we think it probable the Administration may at last be sincere in its purpose. The talk about the French Emperor in connection with the scheme is simple nonsense.

The Republicans and the Presidency.—The Tribune and Evening Post rather startled political circles a day or two since, by simultaneously announcing that Col. Fremont had not written a letter declining to be a candidate for the Presidency in 1860; and the Tribune added, with apparent emphasis, that it believed he would accept the nomination if it should be tendered to him. The fact that the Editor of the Tribune had quite recently returned from a visit to Col. Fremont gave special interest and importance to this announcement, which has been quite widely referred to as foreshadowing a change of the Republican programme in regard to the Presidential nomination. The Tribune is uncommitted, so far as public announcements are concerned, on the subject of a candidate; it has merely avowed that it is in favor of the man who will be most certain of success. Mr. Seward would undoubtedly be its favorite candidate but for some doubt on this point;—and Mr. Bates, of Missouri, has generally been regarded as certain to be the Tribune's choice whenever it should become evident that Mr. Seward's nomination would be injudicious. Within a few days past, however, a letter has been published in which Mr. Bates commends most warmly the course of those gentlemen who have adhered to the old Whig organization, and takes occasion to speak of the Republicans as having been "blinded to the true and lasting interest of the whole country, by the glare of false issues and transient projects, gotten up in a narrow sectional spirit, and urged in fratricidal rage;"—and it is not at all impossible that this sentiment may not have seemed likely to win Republican support for Mr. Bates in the event of his nomination.

It is evident that there is to be a somewhat sharp contest in the Republican ranks on the selection of a candidate. We still think the mass of the party will urge Mr. Seward, though a portion of the West will press Gov. Chase,—and Gov. Banks will be held in reserve as a compromise candidate between the two. Mr. Seward is a Protectionist and the other two are Free-traders,—and this difference of sentiment will not be without its weight. There is a strong effort in progress, however, to prevent the Republicans from nominating any man who has been conspicuously connected with that party:—and this, we presume, is the real object of the simultaneous movement for the reorganization of the old Whig Party. We presume that in the end the Opposition will be greatly influenced in this matter by the previous action of the Democrats.

Good Memory.—The Albany Atlas says it "recollects the disgust with which it turned from an account in a foreign paper of the recent killing of Dr. Graham in New-Orleans, as an illustration of 'American society.'" As the killing took place on the 19th of September, and no foreign comments upon it have yet reached us, the memory of the Atlas is of rather an uncommon sort.

Amusements.

Mr. and Mrs. Henri Drayton commence a series of musical entertainments to-night, at the French Theatre, which seem to be entitled to attention on the score of novelty. An operetta and a lyric proverb are promised—the vocal illustrations being rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Drayton, with the assistance of an orchestra. These entertainments have met with success in London, and are greatly appreciated and encouraged in Paris.

A Word for Baltimore—The Late Steamboat Riot.

Revere House, Boston, Monday, Oct. 10.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

During my hurried transit from the Ferry to the steamer in your City on Saturday last en route for this place, I noticed in your morning issue of that day an article commenting with sarcastic bitterness upon a recent occurrence in the City of Baltimore, to which I would not take exception did I not know your statement of the facts to be very erroneous, particularly in reference to the crime of the parties tried.

You speak of outlaws outraging a wife and beating a husband in each other's presence, on board of the steamer Express. This is entirely erroneous; has no foundation in fact, evidence or suspicion, as far as our City and its authorities are concerned. Acting in an official position when this riot on the steamer occurred, I made the inquiries, ordered the arrests, examined near forty witnesses, and committed the parties charged, for trial. No clue whatever was or could be obtained of any such outrage as you mention, although a question to that purport was put to every witness. A colored woman, frightened by a tumult, rushed into a stateroom in which a gentleman was sleeping, created some merry scandal on that gentleman, and the report doubtless sprang from that.

The extent of the disorder consisted in an assault by some six to ten boys at night upon some colored persons, one of whom was severely but not dangerously cut, and the pillage of some baskets containing provisions for the colored persons during their stay at the camp meeting to which they were going. The principal miscreants were arrested at Cambridge, Md., when the boat stopped there—the others, at my instance, in the City of Baltimore, and committed to jail. It was at the trial of the latter that Judge Stump, not a "a specimen," as you say, but an exception of the "Maryland judiciary," delivered the sentence with accompanying remarks which, by the Press and public of Baltimore, without exception, were pronounced infamous; and it is but just to presume that as reckless as he had become of public opinion, yet the remarkable sentence in this case should be attributed only to an irresponsible mental condition. You are wrong again in speaking of the value of the parties on trial in a political way; they were boys never identified with any political club—and of all the faults of the judge, political aspiration, beyond his present term of office, is so absurd that none in our city ever accuse him of it. Besides, he is not a member of the dominant party, and never was. I am thus particular in these details to correct the great injustice you have. I know unwittingly done Baltimore.

Your paper, with its vast circulation, has carried an unmerited reproach (not sustained by facts) to all parts of the country, to be copied and recopied to the injury of our city.

You also state "that by some fatality these parties were arrested," implying others are not. From personal knowledge I pronounce the implication entirely incorrect. There is not a disorderly person in Baltimore but what has been arrested and rearrested by the Police. Punishment is not as prompt as it should be, but that, we trust, will be remedied before long by the unanimous action of the people in a legal way.

Your reflections on Mayor Swann are equally unfair; his allusion to the exaggerations of the Press are fully sustained by the article in your paper and other articles of like character. The Herald characterizes the charges against the youths referred to as "murder, rape, rioting, &c." How unfounded this is, how wrong you are, can easily be ascertained by referring to the evidence as published by all the papers in Baltimore. The indictment was for "riotous and disorderly conduct," and the occurrence had no more real significance than the daily rows inseparable to every large city, save from newspaper exaggeration. For some months past Baltimore has been unusually quiet—her streets thronged, her public resorts crowded, her churches full, her business prosperous and her hotels overflowing—such a fact speaks louder than words.

I trust that your high character as a faithful journalist will secure to us the advantages of my explanations, made in good faith, as due to our beloved city, who, with all her faults, is yet the home of too many social virtues to permit her children to think she deserves the moral degradation you, I am sure, unintentionally attribute to her. In your island home, when you contemplate lecturing our home again, think that we are like others, often "more sinned against than sinning."

Hastily yours, JNO. T. FORD.

Explosion of Steam Boilers.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Dear Sir: As steam-boiler explosions are on the increase, involving great loss of life and destruction of property, and as such disasters are apt to bring out remarks upon such important subjects, I, as one interested, would like to offer my views in a journal in which such matters have been heretofore ably treated. In a City journal of a recent date, hydraulic pressure as a test for boilers has been recommended as a preventive of boiler explosions. The same journal recommends the Legislature to pass a law to the effect that all boilers should be tested with hydraulic pressure annually, by appointed Inspectors, by whom a certificate shall be given as to the result of the test, which shall be hung in a conspicuous place on the premises, "then all is secure for a year." Now, I think, if there was such a law in existence there would be more boiler explosions than heretofore, as parties using steam power would consider themselves secure, whoever might be in charge of their boilers.

From nearly all the evidence we have from boiler explosions, we have found the boilers to be of good construction, in good condition, and in many cases new; and would bear a great hydraulic pressure if subjected to that test in all probability more than the inspectors would subject them to. The journal above alluded to, says: "That engine builders test their boilers with hydraulic pressure before sending them away." I am aware that some of them do. Their tests are generally made to discover any leaks that may be in their seams, or about their rivets, in order to make them tight before leaving the works; but they (the boiler-makers) are the last to suppose that that test secures them against explosion. On the Mississippi and other southwestern waters, the strongest boilers have been adopted, (the small cylinder boiler,) and on that river explosions have been most frequent, and in all cases attended with the most disastrous consequences. And again; to show the insecurity against boiler explosions, we will cite the case of the Great Eastern's funnel casing, or vertical boiler, the explosion of which took place on her first trial, and proved so unfortunate to the great enterprise. The said casing had just been proved by hydraulic pressure, and stood the test. The journal in question may argue that a boiler plate under steam pressure, has greater tenacity than when tested under cold water pressure. So it has, up to a certain limit. Iron boiler plate is found to increase in tenacity as its temperature is raised, until it reaches a temperature of 550 degrees Fahrenheit above the freezing point, at which point its tenacity begins to diminish.

Iron becomes red in the dark at 752 degrees, in twilight at 884 degrees, and in daylight at 1,077 degrees, thus showing the rapid decrease of strength in boiler plate when heated up to a high degree of temperature, the sole cause of boiler explosions in my humble opinion. The only security I know of against such disasters, is to have experienced engineers in charge of boilers—engineers who are acquainted with boilers and steam in all its workings, priming or foaming, and all the peculiarities attending them; feed pumps and all their tricks, and how to remedy their evils in an emergency. We should recommend the journal in question to have a law passed to examine the engineer instead of the boiler, as a safeguard against steam-boiler explosions.

Respectfully,

The Engagement of the President and Endymion.

New-York, Monday, Oct. 10, 1859.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In your paper this morning there appears an article signed "R.", which, in attempting to correct a mistake as to the identity of Rear-Admiral James Hope recently repulsed at Pei-ho, has led you into another error, which I trust, from a sense of justice and respect for the memory of the gallant Decatur, you will lose no time in correcting. It is there stated incidentally that the British frigate Endymion, under the command of Captain Henry Hope, captured the United States frigate President. So far from this being true, the Endymion was completely dismantled and her guns silenced by the President, causing her to drop astern entirely disabled. Commodore Decatur would have taken possession of his prize, and would have added her to the American Navy, as he did the frigate Macedonian on a former occasion, but seeing the remainder of the British squadron was gaining on his ship, he was obliged to abandon the Endymion and continue on his course. Commodore Decatur afterwards surrendered to the razee Majestic and the frigates Pomona and Tenedos, and delivered his sword to the Captain of the Majestic. The following extract from Commodore Decatur's official report to the Secretary of the Navy will place this matter in its true light. After relating the circumstances of the President's being run aground by the pilot in attempting to cross Sandy Hook bar on the previous night by which the ship's keel and bottom were seriously damaged, much to the injury of her sailing qualities, and the subsequent chase of the British squadron—the Endymion being the first to get alongside of her—he goes on to state as follows: "Our opponent kept off at the same instant we did, and commenced at the same time. We continued engaged, steering south with steering sails set two hours and a-half, when we completely succeeded in dismantling her. Previously to her dropping entirely out of the action, there were intervals of minutes when the ships were broadside and broadside, in which she did not fire a gun. At this period, (8½ o'clock,) although dark, the other ships of the squadron were in sight and almost within gun-shot. We were, of course compelled to abandon her. In resuming our former course for the purpose of avoiding the squadron, we were compelled to present our stern to our antagonist; but such was his state, though we were thus exposed and within range of his guns for half an hour, that he did not avail himself of this favorable opportunity of raking us. We continued this course until 11 o'clock, when two fresh ships of the enemy (the Pomona and Tenedos) had come up. The Pomona had opened her fire on the larboard bow, within musket shot; the other about two cables length astern, taking a raking position on our quarter, and the rest, with the exception of the Endymion, within gun-shot. Thus situated, with about one-fifth of my crew killed and wounded, my ship crippled, and a more than four-fold force opposed to me, without a chance of escape left, I deemed it my duty to surrender." In the English Navy Register, under the head of "services of officers," it is stated that Vice-Admiral Henry Hope received a medal for capturing the frigate President, while in command of the Endymion. It is probably from this source that your correspondent has derived his information.

Very respectfully, &c.,

A NAVY OFFICER.

SPORTING NEWS.

Mr. Morrissey Accepts Mr. Heenan's Challenge.

NEW-YORK, Tuesday, Oct. 11, 1859.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I have seen the card of Mr. JOHN C. HEENAN, under date of yesterday, in which he responds to my recent statement that I would meet him, or any other man, for $10,000 a side, by agreeing to close a match with me for that amount, and by kindly giving me the option to fix the time for the fight to come off, either before or after his approaching fight with SAYERS. In reply to this, I desire to state that I will avail myself of the privilege he has tendered me, and agree to fight him after his battle for the championship of England, whether he win or lose it, for $10,000 a side, within four or eight months after the date of his fight in England, just as he may choose. In accordance therewith, I have this day made a deposit of $500 with the Editor of Wilkes' Spirit of the Times, to bind any match we may agree upon.

As an apology for my being willing to make a new match with Mr. HEENAN, in opposition to my previous determination not again to appear in the prize ring, I have to say that I do so in order, if possible, to arrest the course that Mr. HEENAN has been pursuing towards my friends, and as he has whipped one of my former seconds, and also recently threatened to whip the other, I thought it my duty to them to come forward and give him a chance, if he could, to whip me. It was under the irritation caused by this threat of his that I made the statement which drew forth his card, and not from any deliberate intention or desire on my part to again enter the prize ring. However, having said what I did, I am willing to be as good as my word, and in the meantime I sincerely hope that Mr. HEENAN may whip the champion of England, so that I may be able to meet him as a winner,—a pleasure which he could not afford me now. I will conclude by repeating that $500 of my money is now on deposit with the Editor of Wilkes' Spirit of the Times, with the view of binding our proposed match. It will remain there for ten days for Mr. HEENAN to cover, if he still feel so inclined.

JOHN MORRISSEY.

The Scullers' Race at Staten Island.

The occasion of this long-talked-of contest "for the championship of the American waters" took place yesterday afternoon under the direction of the Union Regatta Association on the bay fronting Castleton, S. I. It proved the most exciting race of the season. At least 5,000 spectators were on the ground to witness the contest.

Four boats were entered for the race, viz: Major Martin, of Newburgh, manned by OSCAR WARD; the Thomas Jefferson, of New-York, manned by ANDREW FAY; the Brooklyn Boy, of Brooklyn, manned by THOMAS DAW, and the Unknown, of Newburgh, manned by JOHN HANCON.

At precisely 4 o'clock the oarsmen left the stake-boat anchored off the Quarantine pier, shooting across the bay, and varying but little in their speed while within view of the assemblage, which at this time manifested the utmost enthusiasm, while bets were freely made on all sides as to the result. The weather was everything that could be desired. The absence of high winds rendered the bay quite smooth, a fact which was regarded as much in favor of the Newburgh scullers, who are not accustomed to the rough waters of the harbor. OSCAR WARD, of Newburgh, was the first to round the stake-boat anchored off Fort Hamilton, and was followed in nine seconds by FAY, who in turn was followed in eleven seconds by DAW.

The decision of the Judges was, of course, in favor of WARD, to whom the prizes, consisting of an elegantly-wrought silver belt and a purse of $100 were awarded.

FAY, who was declared second best, was awarded a purse of $30.

DAW, of the Brooklyn Boy, took occasion to announce that he will row with any oarsmen for the sum of $1,000, who may accept the challenge within two weeks.

Flora Temple's Extraordinary Performance at Cincinnati.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, Oct. 8, describes the heat of Flora Temple at the Park in that City, when she made a mile in 2:21½. The Enquirer says: "When we arrived on the ground, a great number of persons had already assembled, and, before the horses were ready, as many as 4,000 or 5,000 people were on the track. On the third and last heat, Flora and Ike Cook passed the stand at a spanking pace, the horse a little in advance. The first half-mile was made in 1:09½, which, among the "knowing ones" created considerable excitement, and no little uneasiness with those who had bet against 5:25 and 5:26. The tremendous pace was kept up, the mare causing some fear when she merely skipped on the third quarter, but caught at once, and rushed onward like the wind; the horse closely in her rear, but losing as they neared home, which was reached by the mare in the extraordinary time of 2:21½, timed by eight watches. The horse, who was but three lengths behind, proved himself a worthy competitor even of Flora Temple.

Board of Supervisors.

MORE BALLOT BOXES WANTED—CLAIMS AUDITED BY THE COMPTROLLER—CAN THE SUPERVISORS FILL VACANCIES IN THE BOARD OF REGISTRATION?

The Police Commissioners sent a communication to the Board of Supervisors, which met at 3 P.M. yesterday, setting forth that an appropriation of $200 was needed for repairing ballot boxes before election, and that 250 new ballot boxes were needed in the election districts, for which they recommended that an appropriation be made. It was referred to the Committee on Criminal Courts and Police.

A communication was received from the Comptroller, transmitting his Quarterly Report of Claims against the County, audited and paid during the third quarter of the fiscal year, ending Sept. 30, and a statement of expenditures for the first six months of the year. The total expenditures for the last three months were $761,205 56, and for the six previous months $2,014,278 98, making the total for the nine months $2,775,484 54.

Another communication was received from the Comptroller, transmitting a statement of receipts, appropriations, expenditures and loans, on account of the Board of Supervisors, for the nine months, with the number of warrants outstanding. It was directed that these communications be printed in the minutes, and that 250 copies be printed in document form.

President PURDY offered a preamble and resolution, directing that the County Clerk prepare and certify copies of the poll lists used at the last general election in election districts under the recent ordinance "To divide the City into convenient Election Districts," so that the Inspectors of Registry may be in possession of the names of the actual voters at the last general Election, in accordance with the provisions of the Registry act.

Supervisor KENNEDY said there was nothing in the law which authorized the County Clerk to do what the resolution proposed. He said the Registry act did not suit him at all, although he was in favor of a Registry law.

Supervisor BLUNT characterized the Registry act as a miserable law.

The resolution was adopted.

Supervisor KENNEDY offered a preamble and resolution setting forth that the Comptroller's office had been repaired at a cost of about $12,000, and that as the County Bureau is accommodated in that office, part of the expense ought to be borne by the County, and directing the Committee on County offices to report a sum to be appropriated therefor. It was adopted.

On motion of Supervisor KENNEDY the Board proceeded to select a paper in which the session laws of 1859 should be printed. A ballot was taken and two papers of small circulation were selected.

Supervisor KENNEDY addressed the Board in support of the proposition that the Board has power to fill any vacancies in the Board of Registration occasioned by resignations or a refusal to serve on the part of registrars appointed. He moved that the legal adviser of the Board be requested to give the Board his opinion on this point. It was carried, and, on motion of Supervisor TWEED, the Board resolved to meet at 3 P. M. next Saturday, to take such action in this regard as it is found that it has a right to take.

The bill of Wm. Coulter—$144 96—for work on the County jail was allowed. Several other bills of small amount were passed upon and the Board adjourned.

The Board of Governors.

THE WEEKLY REPORT—RESTRICTING THE USE OF TOBACCO, ETC.

The Board of Governors of the Almshouse met yesterday afternoon, Governor TOWNSEND in the chair. The weekly report showed the number remaining in the various Institutions under the supervision of the Board, Oct. 1, 1859, to be 7,346; the number admitted, 1,735; died, 31; discharged, 1,440; sent to Penitentiary, 133; sent to State Prison, 4—total, 1,608. Remaining Oct. 8, 1859, 7,473—increase, 127. In Bellevue Hospital, 882; Lunatic Asylum, 700; Almshouse, 1,492; Penitentiary, 733; Island Hospital, from Workhouse, 290; Island Hospital, from Almshouse, 108; Workhouse, 889; Small-Pox Hospital, 3; Randall's Island, 979; Randall's Hospital, 234; City Prison, 464; Second District Prison, 12; Third District Prison, 25; Colored, 245; Colored Orphan Asylum, 180; children at nurse, 197; City Cemetery, 20—total, 7,473.

While the requisitions were being read, a quantity of tobacco was asked for, and Governor B. F. PINCKNEY proposed that the supply of tobacco should be cut off, with the exception of enough for the boat's crew. Governor TOWNSEND considered tobacco a luxury, and the supply was reduced to 10 pounds—that to be chewed and smoked only by the jolly watermen named in the motion of Governor PINCKNEY.

A communication was received, asking the privilege for Engine Company Damper, of Hartford, Conn., and Ringgold Hose Company, of Newburgh, N. Y., to visit the Institutions. The communication was received and the request granted.

A resolution was proposed requesting information from the Warden of the Workhouse in relation to the killing of one of the inmates in that Institution a few days since. The resolution was withdrawn, with the understanding that should he not report without having been requested to do so, he should be discharged.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the President and Clerk to draw a warrant for $2,000 on the Comptroller, to be taken from the moneys appropriated for the necessary expenses of the Department. The Board then adjourned.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

FALL OF A PAINTERS' SCAFFOLD—ONE MAN KILLED AND FOUR OTHERS WOUNDED.—Yesterday, at 11½ A. M., as LEONARD HALZEE, HENRY B. MERRITT, WM. B. ROBERTSON, JAMES TAYLOR and GEORGE MORRILL, were engaged in painting the inside of the Balance Dry Dock at the foot of Pike-street, East River, the rope which supported the scaffolding broke, precipitating the unfortunate workmen to the bottom of the dock. The accident was witnessed by persons in the vicinity, who immediately went to the assistance of the injured men. HALZEE was found quite dead; his legs were fractured, and his body was much bruised. He was taken by the Police to the Seventh Precinct Station, and subsequently to his late residence, No. 238 Second-street. MERRITT's limbs were also fractured in several places. He was removed to the City Hospital. The physicians pronounced his condition to be very precarious. ROBERTSON, who is said to be fatally injured, was taken to his home, No. 40 Forsyth-street. TAYLOR was only slightly hurt, and was removed to his residence, No. 343½ Water-street. MORRELL, fortunately for himself, fell through an aperture in the bottom of the dock into the water, and escaped with wet clothes. Coroner JACKMAN will hold an inquest upon the body of HALZEE this morning. He was married, and leaves a wife and four children.

THE WATER PEDESTRIAN.—Mr. HICKOK, of Canada, who has recently made several successful experiments near Toronto in walking on water, was to have entertained a private party, yesterday, by an exhibition at the Hoboken yacht grounds. Having left his water-shoes at home, he was under the necessity of having a new pair made here. The shoemaker, or rather the tinman, made them too small, and as they were not of the required buoyancy to sustain his weight the proposed exhibition was not successful. Mr. HICKOK exhibited his walking apparatus to the few spectators assembled, and explained, by partial experiments, his peculiar mode of locomotion. The "shoes" are simply hollow tin cylinders of about ten inches diameter and four feet long, flattened on the bottom, rounded on the top, and pointed like the nose of a porpoise at the forward end. Along the bottom run two flanges like a double keel, which give the necessary support against lateral or sliding motion. Between the flanges three "fins" are so arranged that they close up by the forward motion, and open to the slightest resistance backward, thus enabling him to move forward easily. In the centre are the openings for the feet, which are supported by a kind of boot leg to afford the requisite support. Mr. HICKOK promises to give another, and he hopes a better, exhibition, in a day or two, at the same place.

THE PELL-STREET STABBING AFFRAY.—An ante-mortem examination was held yesterday at the City Hospital by Coroner JACKMAN, in the case of DENNIS MCHENRY, the man who was stabbed on Monday night with a sword and bayonet, by JOHN KRIMANS, the proprietor of a liquor-shop at No. 23 Pell-street. MCHENRY's deposition was taken as well as the testimony of the witnesses of the affray, and their evidence verifies the statement made in the TIMES yesterday. The jury found that MCHENRY had been unjustifiably wounded by KRIMANS. The accused had previously surrendered himself to the authorities. He said he had only refrained from doing so on Monday night because of his aversion to spending the night in the cell of a Station-house. He was committed by the Coroner to the City Prison, pending the result of MCHENRY's injuries. The recovery of the latter is considered very doubtful.

MOZART HALL ASSEMBLY NOMINATIONS.—The Mozart Hall Democrats are slowly proceeding with their Assembly nominations. The Fourth District Convention which had adjourned to meet last evening at Pythagoras Hall, could not be found and nothing of it was to be learned at the hall in question. The Fifth District Convention will meet again to-morrow night at MASON's, corner of Hudson and Barrow streets. In the Seventh District the Convention adjourned to Friday. JOHN J. REILLY, an Assemblyman and now Assistant Clerk at the City Hall Police Court, was nominated in the Eighth District; WILLIAM P. DUNN in the Ninth, and ex-Alderman WILLIAM GAGE, who was a member of Assembly from the same District in 1857, in the Twelfth.

THE ALBANY JEWELRY ROBBERY—ARREST ON SUSPICION.—Two noted characters, named ANDREW and WILLIAM CURTIS, were arrested yesterday by the police, on a charge of being concerned in the robbery, on Thursday last, of the jewelry store of B. L. HOOD, No. 42 State-street, Albany, of $20,000 worth of goods. On searching the residence of the prisoners, No. 102 West Forty-first-street, the officers found a large number of burglars' tools, including wax casts of locks, and also a lot of jewelry worth $1,000, supposed to be a part of the proceeds of the Albany robbery. The CURTISES are alleged to be old offenders, having served out part of a term at Sing Sing for burglary, but were pardoned out during the memorable reign of Governor CLARK. They are in custody at the Police Head-quarters, and will be sent to Albany to-day.

POLICE PRESENTATION.—We understand that the officers and men of the Metropolitan Police force are about to present a very handsome testimonial to Mr A. V. STOUT, City Chamberlain, in acknowledgement of that gentleman's liberality in coming to the assistance of the Police Department last Fall, when the appropriation for payment of the Police force was exhausted. Mr. STOUT was requested to sit for his portrait to a distinguished artist, and the painting—said to be an excellent likeness—will probably be presented next Friday evening at the house of the City Chamberlain, in presence of a distinguished company, invited to witness the ceremony. The fact that Mr. STOUT is largely canvassed as a proper recipient for the Democratic Mayoralty nomination will lend interest to the proceedings, and give a semi-political aspect to the social gathering.

MME. GAZZANIGA'S HORSES AT AUCTION.—In consequence of Mme. GAZZANIGA's intention soon to depart for Europe, her horses and carriages were yesterday sold at auction by Mr. H. H. LEEDS, in front of his salesroom, in Nassau-street. Animals, carriage, harness, whips, &c., were sold in separate lots. The horses—a fine pair of well-matched black ponies, 14½ hands high—after spirited bidding between a Mr. POILLON and another gentleman, were purchased by the former for $302 50, as mementoes of the celebrated prima donna. A light and stylish French two-seat carriage, behind the ponies, was disposed of to the same gentleman for $150; harness, &c., brought $59—the complete establishment netting $511 50. The sale appeared to give satisfaction to all the parties interested.

THE ACCIDENT TO THE VANDERBILT.—The accident to the steamer C. Vanderbilt, on Monday was caused by a schooner coming in stays just under her bows, when passing through the most difficult portion of Hell Gate. She was forced upon Flood Rock, and slight damage was done to the bottom of the boat. Some of the joiner work was also injured. At high water the steamer was floated off, the freight and baggage having been previously removed, and she has been taken upon the ways at Hunter's Point for repairs. She will resume her trips on Friday, leaving at the usual hour. The Commodore takes her place this evening. No one was injured by the accident.

RELIEF FOR THE QUAKER CITY.—The Secretary of the Treasury having responded favorably to a request that the U. S. steam revenue cutter Harriet Lane should be sent to look after the Quaker City, Captain FAUNCE, yesterday morning, took on board an extra supply of coal and some heavy hawsers, and about noon left for the cruise. He will reconnoitre the western edge of the gulf stream, if necessary, as far south as the capes of Virginia. It is believed, however, that the Quaker City must have made considerable progress northward, and that she will either be fallen in with by one of the Southern steamers, or be found by Capt. FAUNCE not far south of the Delaware.

STABBED IN A FIGHT.—Two women were engaged in a fight on Monday night at a house in Fortieth-street, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues, when FRANK MCCANNON and a shoemaker named MICHAEL HOAG became interested, each taking the part of one of the combatants. In the tumult, it is alleged that HOAG stabbed his antagonist three times in the side and abdomen, inflicting severe wounds and then secreted himself. His hiding-place was finally discovered and he was arrested, taken before Justice KELLY and locked up to await an examination.

MEETING OF THE DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE.—The Democratic State Committee held a meeting, which was fully attended, at the St. Nicholas Hotel yesterday. Besides a large number of Democrats from all parts of the State, all the candidates for State offices were in attendance. Vigorous measures it is said, were adopted for prosecuting the canvas with spirit, and all present expressed confidence that the result of the election would be favorable to the Democracy.

THE FIREMEN'S TRIENNIAL PARADE.—The Exempt Firemen of the City met, last night, at Fireman's Hall, and decided to accept the invitation of HARRY HOWARD, the Chief of the Department, to join in the Triennial Parade of Monday next. Some little difficulty was anticipated respecting the admission into the line of carriages for the infirm members, but that was removed by a communication from Mr. CREGIER, the acting Chief.

FIRE IN PEARL-STREET.—The Seventh District alarm at about 10 o'clock last evening, was caused by the discovery of a fire in the cellar of the grocery store, No. 435½ Pearl-street, occupied by BERGAMNE & JAILLAI. The firemen, aided by the police of the Fourth Precinct, extinguished the flames. Damage to stock about $50, and insured in the People's Insurance Company.

Police Reports.

ARRESTED ON A CHARGE OF RAPE.—Officer Hennesy, of the First Precinct, arrested last night a young man by the name of Curtis, who, it is alleged, with five others, committed a rape upon a woman near the Staten Island Ferry. The parties all belong to Whitehall-slip, and are principally boatmen. Numerous cases of this kind have recently been committed in the same neighborhood.

Masquerade of the Sons of Malta.

THE FESTIVAL OF THE SEVEN CARDINALS—MOONLIGHT PARADE—FIVE HUNDRED DOMINOES IN THE PROCESSION.

New-York has her carnivals no less renowned than Naples; at least if they are not so famous already, they are destined, from present appearances, soon to become so. Last night the Sons of Malta of this City, Brooklyn and Jersey City, to the number of probably 500 men, in grotesque toggery arrayed, paraded the streets beneath the light of the full moon, marched to Union-square, performed mystic rites around the statue of the Father of his country—whom they are said to claim as a member of their Order—and supped together at the Malta Saloon, corner of Broadway and Thirteenth-street. The occasion was the Festival of the Seven Cardinals.

Early in the evening men with mysterious parcels under their arms were gliding into No. 814 Broadway where the rooms of the Propatria Lodge are located, which had been designated as the place of rendezvous. Outside a large crowd gathered gradually, and along the streets through which the procession was to pass many loitered for hours expecting its coming. At a little after 10 o'clock the members of the brotherhood issued from the building, marching two abreast. They proceeded slowly and silently until the head of the column reached Union-square, where it halted. The officers were clad in suits of armor, with vari-colored robes and plumage. Some wore crowns, some caps of red velvet; some carried swords and cimetars and one bore a mighty battle-axe. The chief of the officers were A. A. PHILLIPS, Supreme Grand Commander; BURTON H. DAVIS, Vice-Grand Commander; THOS J. MUNDAY, Supreme Grand Chancellor; C. W. CAMPBELL, Grand Conductor; and FRANCIS B. O'KEEFE, Grand Marshal of Ceremonies. Behind these came the untitled members, one-half of them clad in white, with black crosses on their breasts, marching on the right side; and one-half clad in black dominoes, with white crosses on their breasts, marching on the left side. Here and there was a standard-bearer carrying high staffs, from the top of which floated the black and white banner, with a red octagonal cross embroidered in the centre, under which the Order arrays itself. Midway between the beginning and end of the procession, stalked a figure clad in white, with a grinning skull peering from under his hood, and with bony hands outstretched. The crowd unanimously named him Death, and doubtless he was intended to represent the Destroyer. Behind him, borne on a bier carried on the shoulders of men in black and white dominoes, came a huge open book, and next came a box covered with black and white cloth, on which a cross was embroidered. The tome was "the Mystic Volume," and in the box were "the Natural Bond," "the Apron of Innocence," and "the Scroll of Honor." Preceded by a corps of drummers, guarded by a force of 16 police, under Capt. HUTCHINS of the Fifth Precinct, and led, flanked and followed by troops of men and boys, the procession marched down Broadway, through Fulton and up Nassau and Chatham streets and the Bowery, through Grand-street to Broadway again and so to Union-square. It was greeted throughout the entire route with cheers, jeers and shouts. Large crowds were gathered along the line, and although it was midnight when the Brotherhood reached Union-square, there were still a great many persons there. The ceremonies before the statue of WASHINGTON amounted to nothing. They consisted merely in marching and counter-marching. At the conclusion of them the Sons of Malta proceeded to the Malta Saloon, where they dined together. They did not go home till morning.

ASTRONOMICAL.

Evidences of the Being of a God—Lecture by Prof. O. M. Mitchell.

The first of a course of four lectures by Prof. O. M. MITCHELL, was delivered last evening, before the Gillette Young Men's Association, in Calvary Baptist Church, West Twenty-third-street. The attendance was all that could have been desired, either by the association or by the distinguished lecturer himself. His subject was, "Evidences of the Being of a God, drawn from the Physical Universe." After a suitable introduction, in which he said he did not believe that in any soul there was a doubt of the being of a God, he commenced the consideration of his theme. Beginning with light, Prof. M. said he would call to his aid that wondrous instrument, the telescope. He would not carry his audience too fast—only as fast as light itself, which traveled at the rate of 12,000,000 of miles a minute. With the aid of the telescope they would examine the planets. The first, Mercury, was 36,000,000 of miles from the Sun; Venus 68,000,000; the Earth 95,000,000. Sinking deeper into space, we come upon Mars and the Asteroids; then Jupiter, with his four moons, and Saturn, with his rings and eight attendant satelites. Then, at the distance of 1.800,000,000 miles, was Uranus; and 3,000,000,000 of miles distant was Neptune—that planet recently evoked from the depth of space by that wondrous instrument, the telescope. Looking back from even that distance, the orbs behind seemed insignificant. But they would jog onward to the fixed stars, the light from which occupied ten years in reaching our eyes. And again they would take the telescope and pass onward to the milky way, where they would discover 500 objects more, as distant from each other as is our earth from the sun. Onward let them pass, and what were the objects to be seen—sweeping outward still further and further, there were stars as grand as had been left behind. Having swept over that distance, it was no longer that they had to do with stars, but with numerous universes; and still beyond, with ours as a centre and infinitude beyond, there still was universe to be added to universe. Now came the problem. Whence are these objects? Had they ever been there? There were three hypotheses on which an attempt had been made to answer the question. The first was that the world was eternal, having neither beginning nor end. The second was, matter was eternal and cannot be destroyed. The third was, that they were the work of an omnipotent, divine Being. The first, was the Universe eternal? Had the stars existed, the planets rolled, the sun shone, and had our earth itself been circulating round the sun from eternity? They seem to be organized for eternity. But when we examine our earth, the only one we can examine internally, we must, if the first hypothesis be correct, find animal and vegetable life eternal. This was demonstrably not the case. The second hypythesis, that the matter is eternal, out of which the world was formed, and that from its creative condition it had been brought by certain immutable laws. Let them but consider a particle of matter: would it either rise or fall without a power to move it? No. Chaos existed, but out of it no order could arise until a controlling power willed it; then insensate matter was organized and a world was formed. That brought them to the third hypothesis—that the whole universe had been called into existence by an Omnipotent God. In proof of the correctness of the third hypothesis, the speaker told of the revolutions of the various planets and of the wonderful delicacy and complexity of the arrangement by which they were made dependent upon each other, and showed how the slightest deviation from the great laws that govern them, would destroy the whole. We were living upon a globe, he said, which was allied to all other globes—destroy the equilibrium and all was destroyed. There was not a planet that had not its size, weight and velocity assigned to it. Change either, and destruction must inevitably follow. Could they think of that, he asked—all that, so beautiful, so delicate, so sublime, and believe that it came to be so by chance? There were, in all that was known of the heavenly bodies, every evidence that each and every one of them was one matter, governed by the same great laws and by the same great controlling power. In conclusion, Prof. M. said he could, if he had the power, have built a universe so that there would have been none of the changes which ours is his subject to. He would have made the planets of one matter, and placed them so that they should not have affected each other, nor should they have been affected by the sun. He could have launched them out, and they would have gone on perfectly in their spheres. Now why was not the world so built, if there were differences of matter? It had not been because there was but one matter, and matter could not be willed to attract, and not attract. Hence, the wondrous scheme by which the earth was dragged by the moon, then by the planets and by the sun, here and there, so that dissolution seemed inevitable, but still the most perfect harmony prevailed, and the earth rolled on to eternity. Let the mind contemplate these orbs and their government, and the conclusion was unavoidable—This is the empire of Almighty God.

OBITUARY.

Copied from the New-Orleans Daily Delta.

Departed this life, of malignant carbuncle, at his residence, on the Bay of St. Louis, on the 19th instant, the Hon. ROBERT N. OGDEN, in the 56th year of his age. He died composed, and, as we believe, prepared, in the bosom of his family, attended by his two brothers and surrounded by kindred and friends. This evening in a secluded spot, selected by himself, his remains were committed to the grave by the Rev. Dr. Leacock, in the presence of our whole community, anxious to manifest their respect for their distinguished fellow citizen.

Judge OGDEN was a native of North Carolina, of the best revolutionary stock; his mother a daughter of that ardent patriot Gov. Abner Nash, and niece of Gen. Francis Nash, who fell at the battle of Germantown; while his father's family, of New-Jersey, were among the foremost in their country's service in the War of Independence. Since 1823 he has resided in Louisiana. He went to the bar in Attakapas. He presided as Judge in the old Fourth Judicial District. He subsequently removed to New-Orleans, where he soon took position among the most eminent of her advocates. In every respect he was worthy of his heroic lineage. A nobler heart, a more generous and chivalric nature, a kinder and more devoted husband, father and friend never adorned society. Charitable, unsuspicious, forgiving, always thinking and doing more for others than for himself; his every action regulated by the austerest principles of honor, while his heart was full of feminine gentleness and humility.

His sudden demise will afflict many friends widely scattered in different communities, but by none will he be so deeply deplored and so fondly remembered as by those who stood by his dying bed, who knew him best, who witnessed the beauty of his every-day life and treasure the last accents and admonitions that his parting spirit dispensed. Friend who never deserted us; comrade who ever cheered us; adviser who never deceived us, Farewell! not as the Pantheist said, "Vale eternamque Vale," but in the faith of a glorious resurrection and a joyful reunion in the "better land." farewell!

INSURANCE.

THE
LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY
OF NEW-YORK.
Office in
Continental Bank Building,
No. 7 Nassau-st.,

Is prepared to issue Policies as follows, viz.:

POLICIES IN FAVOR OF AND PAYABLE TO THE WIFE,

Free from the claims of creditors.

POLICIES PAYABLE ON ATTAINING A SPECIFIED AGE,

Or payable in case of death before attaining such age.

POLICIES GRANTED TO CREDITORS,

On the lives of their debtors.

POLICIES GRANTED FOR ANY NUMBER OF YEARS,

PREMIUMS PAYABLE IN CASH,

Quarterly, semi-annually, or annually.

DIVIDENDS DECLARED EVERY THREE YEARS.

And the surplus belonging to the policy holders returned to them in Scrip.

This Scrip bears six per cent. per annum interest, payable in cash, and is redeemed when the aggregate issue shall have amounted to $1,000,000.

At the same time, the Company is empowered by its Charter to purchase the Scrip for the benefit of the policy holders before that time.

This Scrip is not affected by the forfeiture or sale of the policy, which is a great advantage over the system adopted by some Companies, of subjecting the dividend to the same terms of forfeiture and sale as the policy by indorsing it thereon. This is clearly unjust, as the dividend is a surplus fund, and is rightly the property of the insured, irrespective of the policy.

The interest on the Scrip gradually reduces the premium.

ITS PREMIUMS

ARE BASED UPON EXPERIENCE TO THE PRESENT TIME.

No one class of insurers is required to pay the deficiency of others.

HUNDREDS OF THE UNFORTUNATE are disappointed of a cure by not calling on DR. HUNTER at first, the Hunterian Dispensary, No. 3 Division-st., New-York City, established in 1834, for the Preservation of Human Life. PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—Dr. HUNTER has for thirty years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated not less than fifty thousand cases, without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours. It roots out the poisonous taint the blood is sure to absorb unless this remedy is used. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for nothing, that treats of the evil effects of early abuse and indulgence, is embellished with elaborate colored engravings, portraying every feature and phase of disease, exposes the fallacy of the ordinary modes adopted for the cure of local as well as hereditary maladies, and gives the only safe and infallible remedy for expunging every trace of the virus from the system.

CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

The announcement of every new season is an event of sufficient importance to warrant a few words to the public, who have a right to know in advance the intention of the managers. The season now about to commence presents so many new features, involving a general change of system, that the directors deem it their duty to state at length their future plans, the motives that induced them to adopt them, and the resources they possess to carry them out.

The new features of the present season may be epitomized as follows:

FIRST.—The union between B. ULLMAN and MAURICE STRAKOSCH.

SECOND.—The kindly support given to them by some of the principal stockholders of the Academy of Music.

THIRD.—The system pursued in the engagement of new artists.

FOURTH.—The production of a number of new operas and the revival of others that have been heretofore popular, with an entirely new mise en scene.

The union between Messrs. Ullman and Strakosch is a step that will consolidate the stability of the Opera in America. Since Mr. Maretzek has become the manager of the great Opera House in Havana, they have had the sole control of opera in the United States. Although personally, they have had the most friendly feelings towards each other, yet the fact of the existence of two different companies, possessing the same repertoire, wishing to play in the same cities, &c., &c., has interfered more with their own success, as with that of the opera, than the general public are aware. Their association has already enabled them to unite all the talent in one company, to organize the orchestra and chorus in a manner more complete and perfect than it ever has been before. By devoting their combined attention to one common object they have no doubt they will be able to promote their own interests, while the public will be gainers in every respect.

One of the greatest difficulties heretofore experienced by managers, was the want of capital required for what is called preparatory expenses of the season, for the engagement of new artists, their traveling expenses, and the customary advances that are to be made to them prior to their departure. Thanks to the liberality of certain stockholders, and other high-minded patrons of art, a large sum has been advanced to Mr. Ullman, which has rendered the opening of the present season comparatively free from all those obstacles, which, in spite of all energy and activity, could only partially be overcome. The sum thus obtained has not only enabled the managers to furnish new and magnificent scenery—to procure in Paris and Italy new music, costly dresses and properties, such as very few European Opera-houses possess—but it has greatly raised the standing of the Opera in America in the eyes of European artists, who had no great faith in engagements made on the sole responsibility of a single individual, acting without any control whatever, accustomed, as they are, to the direct interest shown by Government in granting to the manager the free use of the Opera-house, and in allowing him a yearly subvention in money proportionate to the importance of the theatre.

THE NEW ENGAGEMENTS.

The directors now approach a subject of great importance, viz., the system they have adopted in the engagements of the new artists. Until now no manager has considered his season safe unless he was able to get some London or Paris celebrity. So far has this idea obtained possession of them, that it has been a matter of secondary importance whether that reputation was borne out by artistic merit and justified by what the artist "is," and not by what he or she "was." In several instances the manager has paid very large sums for the engagement of an artist, whose name certainly filled the Opera-house for one or two nights, but whose salary for the balance of the season kept the managers in continued embarrassment. The directors need only allude amongst others to Mr. Formes, who drew on his opening night $3,000, and took his leave before a house of little over $600, besides occasioning a loss of several hundred dollars whenever he was put up as an attraction. So well do artists know the value American managers are wont to place upon a London or Paris reputation, that many sing for years in London at a nominal salary, for the purpose of obtaining an engagement in America, which, after a few months' service, leaves them in affluent circumstances. They actually make their fortunes when their voices are gone, and when they could obtain no first-class European engagement.

The directors believe that the American public are quite able to judge for themselves, without requiring the indorsement of London or Paris. Facts tend to prove that most artists who came to London with an American reputation, achieved there a success which took the most ardent American admirers by surprise. Malibran, Bosio, Castellan, Didier, Graziani sung, and were appreciated in New-York before they obtained their high position in Europe. To this list will assuredly be added Brignoli, whenever he thinks proper to accept the London or Paris engagements which are offered to him. To rely simply upon artists from London and Paris, many of them with worn-out voices, to pay them the exorbitant prices they or their managers ask, must ultimately tend to the ruin of the Opera in America and the American manager. From letters in the possession of the directors it can be proved that Mlle. Piccolomini, a few months before she signed the engagement with Mr. Lumley, was willing to come to America for one-fifth of the salary they were obliged to pay last year for her services; yet they had not the courage to engage her, because she was unknown in America, having only sung in Italy.

Guided, therefore, by this experience, and fully convinced that young and fresh voices must henceforth be the order of the day, the directors have determined to deviate from the old beaten track, and to obtain their artists from the same source from which the London and Paris managers get theirs. For this purpose Mr. STRAKOSCH, whose thorough musical knowledge eminently qualified him for the undertaking, proceeded direct to Italy, and after hearing a great number of artists, he succeeded in engaging ten new singers, notwithstanding the competition from European managers, which, however, compelled him to pay somewhat higher prices than he expected.

Amongst the new artists whom Mr. STRAKOSCH does not hesitate to recommend to public favor are some, who, although still in all the freshness of their natural gifts, possess high Italian reputations, that have stood the test of numerous seasons at the principal Italian Opera houses, whilst the others are classed among the rising stars on the operatic horizon, and are pointed out as the probable successors to those who will soon be compelled by the gradual decline of their powers to forsake a field which they have long and honorably occupied.

The following is a list of the new artists selected and engaged by Mr. STRAKOSCH:
PRIME DONNE SOPRANI.
MADEMOISELLE ADELINA SPERANZA.
MADEMOISELLE PHILIPINA CRESCIMANO.
PRIMA DONNA CONTRALTO.
MADEMOISELLE MARIA CRUVELLI.
PRIMI TENORI.
SIGNOR BEAUCARDE.
SIGNOR STIGELLI.
SIGNOR TESTA.
PRIMO BARITONO.
SIGNOR GAETANO FERRI.
PRIMO BASSO.
SIGNOR SUSINI.
The following favorites of last season have been retained:
MADAME COLSON, MADAME STRAKOSCH,
SIGNOR BRIGNOLI,
SIGNOR AMODIO, SIGNOR JUNCA,
MUSICAL DIRECTORS AND CONDUCTORS.
SIGNOR MUZIO, CARL BERGMAN, M. STRAKOSCH.
THE REGULAR ORCHESTRA
will consist of 45 performers. On grand Opera nights this number will be increased to 60.
THE CHORUS
will comprise 45 singers. For the new Operas it will be increased to 84.
In addition to the above list
SEVERAL POPULAR ARTISTS
now in this country, will appear on several evenings.

MADEMOISELLE ADELINA SPERANZA.

Mr. Strakosch's most difficult task was the engagement of a prima donna who could fill the place of Mlle. Piccolomini. He has every reason to believe that Mlle. Speranza is the most eligible. Though hardly nineteen, she is considered one of the most promising and rising singers of Italy. She has been only three years on the stage, and yet has met with an enthusiastic reception in every opera-house she has yet appeared in. To a figure and face of great loveliness, she joins a clear and fresh soprano voice, more remarkable for its sweetness than for its power, a degree of musical intelligence beyond her years, and a natural facility of adapting herself to the different characters she has to represent, yet retaining all the time that maidenly modesty which is the more charming for its rarity on the stage. Mlle. Speranza unquestionably possesses great talent, and with it much art-enthusiasm which will require but little time to be fully developed. Mlle. Speranza will appear in "La Traviata," "Ernani," and Verdi's new opera of "Aroldo."

MADEMOISELLE CRESCIMANO.

The other soprano is Mlle. CRESCIMANO, who possesses natural gifts of no common order, and has a fine stage figure and presence. Her voice is one of great power—strong, clear, fresh and vibrating; her style that of the Verdian school. Mlle. CRESCIMANO has been four years on the stage.

MADEMOISELLE CRUVELLI.

Mlle. CRUVELLI is the contralto. In face and figure she greatly resembles her celebrated sister, so famous for her beauty, with whom she has successfully appeared in London, Italy and Germany, until the marriage of the former with Baron VIGIER, and her consequent withdrawal from public life. Mr. STRAKOSCH recommends Mlle. CRUVELLI as possessing one of the finest contralto voices heard in this country, and does not doubt that she will fully sustain the great name she bears.

Amongst the male artists Signor FERRI, Signor BEAUCARDE and Signor STIGELLI occupy positions as high and as well-deserved as any artists who have ever appeared in this country.

SIGNOR FERRI.

Signor FERRI holds at present in Italy the same rank as RONCONI did before he made England his permanent residence, over whom he possesses the advantage of a commanding figure and a powerful voice. As an actor he is full of energy, and is preëminent in such rôles as Carlo, in "Ernani," "Rigoletto," "Don Giovanni," and Chevreuse, in "Maria di Rohan."

SIGNOR BEAUCARDE.

In Signor BEAUCARDE the public will find a tenor of the style of Mario and Salvi. He unquestionably is one of the first tenors of the day, and has had the honor of being the original Trovatore, Verdi having composed that celebrated opera expressly for him. The fact that when "Il Trovatore" was brought out in 1855, in Paris, Signor Beaucarde was engaged in preference to Fraschi, Giuglini and Mirate, greatly enhanced his European reputation which, since that time, has been steadily increasing. He is the husband of Madame Albertini, one of the greatest Italian prime donne, and the names of "Beaucarde and Albertini," possess in Italy the same prestige as the names of "Mario and Grisi" in London. Madame Albertini was prevented from accompanying her husband from private reasons, but the directors have reason to hope that she will arrive in this country next year.

SIGNOR STIGELLI.

Signor STIGELLI has had a most honorable career, having sung in nearly every principal theatre in Europe. He is a tenor of the Tamberlik school, and principally excels in his higher notes. He is, therefore, fully qualified for the tenor parts in the "Huguenots," "La Juive" and the "Prophet." Signor Stigelli is a consummate musician, and enjoys no uncommon celebrity as a composer.

SIGNOR TESTA.

Signor TESTA is a young man of about 23, with a charming tenor voice, of not much power, but pure and flexible. Signor Testa is a tenore di grazia, and has been engaged for light operas, such as "La Sonnambula," "The Barber," "Linda," &c.

SIGNOR SUSINI.

Signor SUSINI has been the leading basso of the Mario and Grisi troupe, and, from the good impression he made on his first visit, the directors trust that his engagement will prove an agreeable one to the public.

THE ARTISTS OF LAST SEASON.

The services of Mesdames COLSON and STRAKOSCH, as well as of Signori BRIGNOLI, AMODIO and JUNCA, have been secured for the season in addition to those of the new artists. Madame Colson is another instance of the sound judgment of the American public. She has been engaged by Mr. Strakosch under the same circumstances as Mlle. Speranza and Mlle. Crescimano. She was an entire stranger to the public, but yet, after having sung the most important parts in which others have achieved triumphs that were thought to be unapproachable, she has stood her ground, and has become as popular as any artist now before the public.

THE MUSICAL DIRECTORS.

Signor Muzio and Carl Bergman will be the musical directors and conductors. Signor Muzio has won for himself the reputation of being one of the best conductors of Italian opera who ever came to this country. His musical education has been directly superintended by Signor Verdi, in whose family he has been brought up from his earliest age. As the only pupil of Verdi he is more qualified to bring out the new operas of his illustrious maestro than any other conductor.

While Signor Muzio will retain the sole control of the Italian repertoire, Carl Bergman will lead the operas of German composers, such as "Don Giovanni," "The Huguenots," &c. As conductor of the concerts of the Philharmonic Society and of the German Opera, he has given ample proofs of his fitness for this important post, and from his extended familiarity with the works—operatic and symphonic—of the great masters, the public can rest assured that full justice will be done to them at Mr. Bergman's hands.

THE ORCHESTRA AND CHORUS.

The orchestra and chorus are reorganized on the same principle. Some twenty fresh voices have been added to the chorus, whilst the orchestra, which always has been a leading feature at the Academy of Music, has been considerably increased.

THE REPERTOIRE.

The company engaged for the next season possesses therefore an abundance of fresh voices, and is so complete in every detail, that the directors are enabled to present the most difficult and complicated operas with that perfect ensemble which vouchsafes to the public a more genuine satisfaction, and insures a more solid success, than the individual efforts of a single artist, however great, could possibly do.

As regards the new opera to be produced during the present season, and the revivals of other celebrated works which have not been performed for several years, the directors beg to say that they will only be able to lay full particulars before the public after the several débuts will have taken place. The operas [illegible] selected up to the present moment are Verdi's [illegible] VESPERS and AROLDO [illegible] Mozart's MAGIC FLUTE. The first new opera will be

LAW REPORTS.

DECISIONS IN ADMIRALTY ON APPEAL.

Bill of Lading—Damages to Cotton—Freight—Consignee.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT, OCT. 11—BEFORE JUDGE NELSON.

John H. Brower et al. vs. the brig Water Witch—William H. Sheldon vs. The Same—John Clifton vs. A Quantity of Cotton.—NELSON, C. J.—The libels in the two first cases were filed to recover damages for injuries to a cargo of cotton shipped in the brig Water Witch, from Lavacca, on the Bay of Matagorda, Texas, to this port, in May, 1854.

The libellants were the consignees of the cotton. The libel in the third case was filed by the owner of the brig to recover his freight money. A special contract was made between the shipper at Lavacca and one Mitchell, who represented himself as agent of the vessel. She lay at the port of Indianola, situated on the same bay as Lavacca, but several miles distant. The cotton was carried in a lighter from Lavacca to the vessel. After it was delivered from the lighter and received on board the vessel, the master refused to sign the bills of lading, upon the ground that the cotton was not in good order and condition, and pending this dispute he sailed for New-York with his cargo. The shipper, on learning that the vessel had sailed without having signed the bills of lading, forwarded the bills unsigned to the consignees named in them, stating the circumstances of the refusal of the masters to sign them. The consignees made advances upon the cotton. On the arrival of the vessel at this port, the master notified the consignees to whom the cotton was consigned, and discharged his cargo, but in a very damaged condition. He also demanded his freight from them, the payment of which was refused, and the above suits afterwards instituted by the respective parties.

It is proper to state further that the brig was under a charter-party from the owners to a firm in New-Orleans, and that Mitchel, with whom the contract was made for the shipment of the cotton, represented this firm. By this contract the shipper was to deliver the cotton at Lavacca, to be received on lighters by Mitchel, and placed by him at his expense on board of the vessel, to be carried to New-York for the freight of 1¼ cents per pound.

This agent also objected to the bills of lading because they did not contain a stipulation that part of the cotton might be shipped on deck. The shipper refused to admit such a stipulation, as it was not contained in the agreement between the parties, which was in writing.

I. We perceive no well-founded objection to the right of the assignees to maintain these suits. They were the persons to whom the cotton was shipped, and were recognized by the master as the proper parties to receive it, and to whom it was delivered by him, and the freight demanded. They had made advances upon it in the usual way, and as between them and the owners for whose benefit the advances were made, they had the same interest in the cotton as if the bills of lading had been duly executed.

II. We should have no difficulty in this case in holding the carrier to the common law liability on the shipment of cotton, even if no bill of lading or other agreement had been entered into by the master, as his consent to receive it on board his vessel and carry it to the port of destination subjected the ship to this liability.

But, in addition to this, the agent of the charterers, in whose service the brig was at the time, and who were interested in procuring cargo, entered into a written agreement fixing the terms upon which the shipment was to be made. The vessel was bound by it, and although it does not contain the stipulations usual in bills of lading, it carries with it by implication the common law obligations of a common carrier.

We lay entirely out of view the charter party between the owner and the firm in New-Orleans, as the shipper in this case had no notice of it; and if, therefore, there had been anything in this agreement repugnant to the charter party, it could not be permitted to affect injuriously his interests.

III. Having disposed of these somewhat technical questions, we come to the main question in the case—and that is, whether or not the damage to the cotton was the natural, if not necessary, effect of its condition at the time of shipment developed in the course of the voyage, or produced by the dangers of the navigation without any fault of the ship, or whether all or any part of it is attributable to bad stowage, or absence of proper care and attention on the part of the master.

Some one hundred bales of the cotton were shipped on deck. It has been argued that the right thus to ship it is fairly to be inferred from the terms of the agreement between the shipper and agent of the vessel. We think not. It is, also, argued that there was a usage of the trade between the ports of Texas and New-York in the shipment of cotton which justified the master in shipping it on deck. We think that the proof fails altogether to establish any such usage. The freight to be paid was the usual rate for cotton under deck.

It has further been strongly argued, that the whole damage to the cotton as disclosed on discharging it at this port was the effect of the country damage existing at the time of shipment, or was produced by a storm which the vessel encountered in the voyage. The evidence in the case is very conflicting upon these questions, and difficult, indeed impossible to be reconciled. The Court below came to the conclusion that, according to the weight of it, the cotton had sustained sea damage for which the vessel was responsible. We are inclined to concur in this conclusion. The testimony is pretty strong that the cotton was badly stowed, and, also, that sufficient attention was not paid to the sea water in the hold of the vessel by using the pumps. The cotton was very wet when discharged from the hold of the ship.

The Court below in the case of the libel of the owner to recover freight, dismissed the same after applying so much of the money awarded for damage to the cotton as equaled the freight money. This, we think, was erroneous. The consignees had each filed his libel to recover this damage, and has succeeded. It is true each set up in his answer to the suit for freight damage to the cotton by way of abatement of the sum claimed. But these parties could not thus split up the claim for damages by applying a portion in extinguishment of the freight money, and then ask for a decree for the excess over this sum. If they insist upon recovering damages on an independent suit they cannot apply any portion of them, by way of abatement, in the suit for the freight money. The damages are an entirety.

We must, therefore, reverse the decree in the case of Clifton vs. a Quantity of Cotton, and direct a decree to be entered for the libelant for the full amount of the frieght-money and interest, with costs. And, as the full amount of freight at the rate of one and a quarter cents per pound will be recovered, the error will be corrected in the Court below, reducing the freight of the portion of the cotton carried on deck to deck freight, and at the same time holding the brig responsible for the transportation of it under deck.

The decrees in the other two suits are affirmed, with costs.

United States District Court—Oct. 11—Before Judge Betts.

INDECENT PHOTOGRAPHS.

The United States vs. One case containing photographic views, &c.—This is an action brought by the Government to forfeit and destroy the goods as contrary to the statute which prohibits the importation of indecent and obscene pictures. The claimant, Mr. Anthony, objects to the forfeiture, alleging that the pictures were not within the statute. Several dealers in fancy goods were called and testified to having purchased and exposed for sale similar pictures without having had them selected or objected to as obscene. One had heard them objected to as "too gay." The Government called Mr. Appleton, Roe Lockwood and Mr. Pike, who testified that they would not sell such pictures. The pictures are calculated for stereoscopes, and are not very different from many that have been exhibited in Broadway. The question was left with the jury, who are to bring in a sealed verdict to-morrow morning.

For the United States, Mr. Hunt; for claimant, Mr. Cochrane and Mr. Craig.

Supreme Court.

THE CITY AND THE STREETS.

Rupert J. Cochran vs. The Mayor, &c., of New-York, et al.—This was a motion for an injunction against the City, to restrain its officers from executing a lease to their co-defendants of two certain lots in Ninth-avenue, between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets. These lots were sold by the City for non-payment of assessments made for "local improvements" in opening Twenty-sixth-street, from Hudson River to Bloomingdale Road, and in setting gutter and curb-stones in Eighth-avenue, adjacent to the premises.

The property was sold in 1856 and bought in by the City, whose corporate officers now propose to execute a lease to George A. Hoyt and John L. Brower.

An injunction is now asked to prevent this; and the application is urged upon the grounds that the City cannot sell property to itself, for non-payment of assessments; that the sale was made without due previous notice; that the date of the confirmation of the assessment was not correctly advertised.

The motion came up for hearing in the Supreme Court at Special Term, before Justice DAVIES, but was postponed to Thursday.

D. D. Field for the plaintiff; R. Busteed for defendants.

CASE OF THE SCHOONER ELIZABETH.

James Chambers vs. Heizer Grantzon.—The proceedings in this case, which has for a day or two past been on trial in the Superior Court, before Justice SLOSSON, were concluded yesterday. The action, it will be remembered, is to recover possession of the schooner Elizabeth, with damages for the unlawful detention of her.

Justice SLOSSON directed the Jury to assess the value of the vessel and find a verdict therefor in plaintiff's favor, subject to the opinion of the Court at General Term. The Jury accordingly assessed the value of the vessel at $7,200.

Court of General Sessions.

THIEVES, PICKPOCKETS AND BURGLARS DISPOSED OF.

Considerable business was transacted yesterday in the Court of General Sessions before the Hon. Recorder BARNARD. A very noted pickpocket, named Augustus Wyncoop, pleaded guilty to grand larceny. His counsel made strenuous efforts for the postponement of his sentence, in order, as he said, to "produce evidence of good character," but the prisoner being much too well known to the Court and the officers thereof, the application was denied, and the culprit sentenced by the Recorder to four years in the State Prison.

Mary Moran pleaded guilty to a charge of petit larceny, and was sentenced to six months in the Penitentiary.

Charles Horton pleaded guilty to an attempt to commit burglary in the third degree, by breaking into the store of Morris Meyer on Sept. 25. He was remanded for sentence in order to allow time for inquiries to be made into his previous history.

Charles Rover, charged with grand larceny, pleaded guilty to petit larceny, and was sent to the Penitentiary for six months.

Arine Rapp, charged with stealing a gold watch from his employer, pleaded guilty to the offence. His employer solicited the mercy of the Court for him, and gave him a good character previous to the commission of the offence, as he had often been trusted with sums of money and articles of value, and proved a "faithful steward." In consequence of this recommendation he was sentenced only to sixty days in the City Prison.

Patrick Barrett, a young man far advanced in consumption, pleaded guilty to an assault. The Recorder taking pity on him for his sickness, sent him for one month only to the Penitentiary.

Jacob Ferris, a colored man, was arrested for assaulting another colored man, named Jesse Jackson, at No. 58 Worth-street, on Sept. 29. The prisoner admitted that he kicked Jackson, but denied that he struck him, as the indictment charged, with a slung-shot. He kicked him because he found him beating a woman. The evidence fully bore out his statement, and the Recorder, in charging the jury, said that the prisoner could certainly only be convicted of simple assault. The jury thought that Ferris had acted chivalrously in defending the woman, and acquitted him.

Several other cases were called, but in each the counsel were unprepared, owing to other engagements, or from having neglected to subpœna their witnesses.

Common Pleas.

THE WILLIAMS DIVORCE CASE—JURY DISCHARGED.

John A. Williams vs. Mary J. Williams.—This is an action for divorce, on the ground of adultery, and has lately been on trial in the Common Pleas, before Judge HILTON. The facts were reported in the TIMES of Oct. 7. After several hours' consultation, the jury were unable to agree, and were discharged.

Decisions.

SUPREME COURT, CHAMBERS—SUTHERLAND, J.

The Bank of the Union vs. Mark Cornell, et al.—The discharge I think is conclusive in this supplemental proceeding. I doubt whether it can be attacked at all, collaterally, in a supplementary proceeding. In any view of the facts within stated, they furnish no ground for not giving full force to it in this matter.

Silas H. Buttrick vs. D. C. Hough, et al.—Order for sale granted.

INGRAHAM, J.

Wm. A. Martin et al. vs. James Acker et al.—Papers not sufficient to authorize injunction.

Richard Joyce vs. Samuel Billsborough.—Motion denied; plaintiff's costs to abide event.

Thomas Sadler vs. Thomas Larkin, et al.—Motion granted; plaintiff's costs to abide event.

Reuben M. Redacker vs. Stephen Brooker et al.—Motion granted so far as to appoint the receiver heretofore appointed, and with directions to apply the moneys received to the payment of the first liens on the property.

SUPERIOR COURT—BOSWORTH, J.

Peake vs. McCarthy.—Reference ordered, and each party enjoined, according to views stated in a memorandum filed with the Clerk.

COMMON PLEAS—BRADY, J.

Butler vs. Hurd.—Judgment that the defendants or their tenants may have the use of the hatchway mentioned in the pleadings prior to 9 A. M. and 4 P. M., the hatchway to be guarded by a proper moveable railing or guard while open; form of decree to be settled on two days' notice.

Catlin vs. Merill, &c.—Judgment for plaintiff, with costs, but without prejudice to the right of the defendant to apply for a stay, pending appeal to the Court of Appeals.

OBITUARY.

DEATH OF CAPT. BOWNE, AGENT OF THE UNDERWRITERS.

Capt. JOSIAH Q. BOWNE, for several years past the general agent of the New-York Board of Underwriters, died at his residence in this City on Monday evening, after a brief attack of paralysis. He left home when but a boy of sixteen, and shipping before the mast soon reached the rank of master. During the time which he has followed his arduous calling he has visited every sea and experienced all the vicissitudes of a sailor's life. For twenty years he was engaged in the Liverpool trade, and has carried in safety between that port and this many valuable cargoes, besides thousands of passengers. That he was a most successful shipmaster may be inferred from the fact that in this period he was never obliged to call upon his insurers. In 1854 Captain BOWNE was appointed the General Agent of the New-York Board of Underwriters, a post of great responsibility, which he continued to fill with great acceptance until his death. During this time, it is estimated that he has superintended nearly two hundred wrecks, which have occurred upon the neighboring coasts. Much of this experience necessarily subjected him to great exposure to wet and cold, particularly in the case of the steamer Franklin, wrecked at Moriches, Long Island; the Humboldt, at Halifax, and more recently, in the case of the ship New-York and steamer Black Warrior. On many occasions he narrowly escaped drowning, while engaged in efforts to save life and property. It is to these severe exposures that the sudden and fatal attack of paralysis is attributed. Capt. BOWNE's funeral will take place from his late residence, No. 125 Allen-street, at 9 o'clock this morning. His remains will be conveyed to Westchester County for burial.

DEATH OF WILLIAM S. REES, THE STREET PREACHER.—WILLIAM S. REES, famous in the West a few years since as a street preacher, died at Keokuk, Iowa, last week, leaving a fortune of $150,000. He had led a singular life. An Englishman by birth, he left college at the age of sixteen master of eight languages; came to New-York in 1830, entered into mercantile business here and amassed a competency, which he lost in the panic of 1837 and then became a wanderer; visiting other countries, and appearing occasionally in Philadelphia, Baltimore and Cincinnati; seemingly (says the Cincinnati Gazette) without any definite purpose, and earning by various means of labor, sufficient to keep him above want. This was the period when he engaged much in preaching in the open air. He subsequently went to the West, and obtaining some money, fortunately invested it in a farm situate on the outskirts of Keokuk. This, at that time, was one of the cities to which emigrants and speculators flocked in great numbers. Rees took advantage of this, divided his farm into lots, and sold them so advantageously that in the course of two years he realized quite a fortune. At the time of his death his property was valued at $150,000. From the time he left college until the day of his death, he was opposed to all churches, believing that the Gospel should be preached in the streets. In 1853, he established the Keokuk Post, and subsequently started the Doniphan Post in Kansas, the latter a free-soil paper.

NEW-YORK, Tuesday, Oct. 11—6 P. M.

On the Stock Exchange business was active, to-day, with a further rise on the Share list of full 1 ꝑ cent., and large sales of State Stocks at an advance of ¼ ꝑ cent. on Missouris, and 1 ꝑ cent. on Tennessees. New-York Central closed on Monday afternoon at 79⅝ as against 78½@⅝ at the close on Saturday. The price opened this morning at 79¾, and advanced to 80½@⅝ on the Street, between the sessions of the Brokers. At the Second Board, the Stock was ¼@⅜ ꝑ cent. weaker, but soon after the adjournment, was in demand again at 80½@⅝, closing 80⅝ bid, 80¾ asked. The transactions of the day amount to about 7,500@8,000 shares. There were large dealings also in Galena and Rock Island, the former rising to 73½, closing 73¼@½ ꝑ cent., and the latter to 64⅞ closing 64½ ꝑ cent. The Galena earnings for the first week in October are reported $55,654 against $40,760 the same week last season. The comparison is with the heaviest week last October, the other three weeks running $34,000, $30,000, and $30,000 respectively. That month yielded $141,000; while the present month promises over $200,000. The other Western shares were firm, Illinois Central in demand at 68@68¼ ꝑ cent., and Toledo recovering to 21 ꝑ cent. at the Second Board. There was not much done in either of the Michigan Stocks. Reading was more active, and ½@¾ ꝑ cent. better. Panama ½ ꝑ cent. firmer, and Pacific Mail advanced to 75 ꝑ cent. Among the Railway Bonds, there was a demand for Illinois Constructions at 84⅜@⅞ ꝑ cent., and for the Erie, Harlem, and Hudson Mortgages, at last rates. New-York Central Bonds have become scarce at the Board, and are held at full rates. The General market closed firm in the afternoon, and that without the appearance of any particular class or combination of buyers.

The Foreign Exchanges for the Asia ruled for standard Bankers' bills 110 ꝑ cent. on London and 5f. 14⅜@5f. 13¾ on Paris. There was a good supply of transient Bank-bills on London at 109⅞ City indorsement and 109¾ without indorsement; and also of Merchant bills at 109¼@109⅝ ꝑ cent. A fair business was done for the present mail, the selection of bills being good, and the very best drawers placing their rate down to 110. The shipment of Specie will be inconsiderable.

In Discounts there was rather more business at Bank to-day, to regular dealers, at 7 ꝑ cent. Outside of Bank there was rather less doing in paper, while temporary loans on Stock collateral were in fair request at 6 ꝑ cent., with exceptional cases, on State Security, at 5½ ꝑ cent. The general market for Money works with much steadiness, and the Bank Statement of this morning is considered significant of continued ease through the month, a further remittance of Bullion from California being nearly due. The Customs, to-day, are $70,000; other receipts into the Sub-Treasury, $74,000; disbursements, $142,000; balance, this afternoon, $4,680,325.

The New-York and Erie election created to-day some little excitement among the friends of the various tickets presented, and elicited a larger vote than for many years past. Nearly one half the capital, or $5,284,000, being voted upon. The ticket presented this morning as embracing the views of Messrs. N. MARSH, Receiver; BANCROFT DAVIS, Mortgage Trustee; the two English Delegates, Messrs. EVANS and SPLATT, and a portion of the old Board, obtained the majority, the leading names receiving 34.430 votes on this ticket, and a portion of them being also on two or three other tickets. We repeat the names:

NATHANIEL MARSH,	D. A. CUSHMAN,
SAMUEL MARSH,	AMBROSE S. MURRAY,
DANIEL DREW,	WILLIAM EVANS, Eng.
DUDLEY S. GREGORY,	GEORGE T. COBB,
JOHN ARNOT,	ROBERT H. BURDELL,
WILLIAM B. SKIDMORE,	WM. F. SPLATT, Eng.,
HERMANN GELPCKE,	J. C. B. DAVIS,
RALPH MEAD,	HENRY SHELDEN,
HENRY L. PIERSON.

We may add that the successful ticket is understood to approve the plan of reorganization and maintenance of securities, published in this column on Monday last, all the Bonds and Shares to represent their respective original or par value.

Messrs. SEWELL, FERRIS & CO., Money Brokers in the Western Exchanges, suspended payment to-day. We understand that part of the drafts made upon them will be taken care of by Messrs. READ, DREXEL & CO., where the funds are transferred or otherwise provided, and that the Metropolitan Bank-Note Reporter will go on as usual under the charge of the other editors.
